Ready to Go Forward to Germany in Submarine Controversy

PRESSES ISSUE TO A DECISION

President Work On Note for Two Days

DID NOT ATTEND CHURCH

As Affairs of State Were Too Onerous to Admit of Any Delay—Document is Characterized As Very Positive in Tone—Sussex Case Only a Link in Chain of Evidence.

Washington, April 17.—Announcement was made at the White House today that President Wilson had practically completed consideration of the forthcoming communication to Germany and it was indicated that he probably will go forward to Berlin late today or tomorrow.

President Wilson, it was said, has been steadily engaged on the note for two days. He did not go to church yesterday but worked practically all day examining evidence submitted by the state department.

The document, officials said, will press the submarine issue to a decision. It was reiterated that the Sussex case would form only a link in the chain of evidence the United States will present to Germany to show that her promises have not been fulfilled.

The document was characterized by officials today as being very positive in tone and they believe that only a prompt acquiescence by Germany in the position taken by the United States can prevent a break in diplomatic relations.

Unofficial dispatches from Berlin indicating that the German government is ready to meet the United States more than half way, it was said, will not change the course of the American government decided upon at Friday's cabinet meeting.

The president and his cabinet have agreed on the steps to be taken and the president is now finishing the phraseology of the proposed communication. He intends to include in the indictment of Germany's submarine campaign attacks on neutral vessels not carrying Americans. That will be done on the broad grounds of humanity and for the reason that many of these neutral vessels were going to or from the United States.

W. C. T. U. WORKER DEAD.

Medina, O., April 17.—Mrs. Eliza Gray, 86, of this city, prominent W. C. T. U. worker and sister of A. I. Root, Medina Bee Culture pioneer, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Terry Hastings, in Akron today.

NEUTRAL SHIP SUNK.

London, April 17, 1 p. m.—The sinking of a neutral ship and a British steamship was reported by Lloyds today. The Norwegian ship Glendown was sunk by gunfire. The lost British ship was the Harrovia which was unarmed.

NEW MOVE

Evidently Is Being Prepared by Germans Against Verdun Fortress

ARTILLERY BOMBARDS FRENCH POSITIONS

In Avocourt Region Including Dead Man's Hill

SUCCESS OF ITALIANS

Is Reported From Rome—Riotous Demonstrations In Athens When Attempt Was Made to Break Up Meeting of Adherents of Former Premier Venizelos, Supporter of Entente.

After temporarily assuming the aggressive in the Verdun battle launching attacks in the Douaumont-Vaux region which are declared to have gained them some ground, the French yesterday and last night held the infantry in check. Neither was there any move by the German infantry arm, according to this afternoon's Paris bulletin.

Apparently a new movement of some importance is preparing west of the Meuse. Heavy bombardment of the French positions in the Avocourt region and along the line for some distance northeast, including the Dead Man's Hill sector, has been mentioned in several official statements by the French war office and similar artillery activity is again recorded today.

Although Rose has reported heavy fighting on the Austro-Italian front, with successes for the Italians, the current headquarters statement from Vienna mentions only small engagements and records no changes of territory in consequence.

Riotous demonstrations have occurred in Athens when an attempt was made to break up a meeting of adherents of former Premier Venizelos, supporter of the entente cause. One report says several shots were fired and that a number of the former premier's followers were arrested.

The Norwegian ship Glendown of 1,918 tons, and the British steamer Harrovia of 4,439 tons have been sunk, the former by gunfire.

MUNITIONS PLANTS' LURING OF SAILORS HOLD UP SHIPMENTS

(Associated Press Telegram)
New York, April 17.—American manufacturers, particularly munitions manufacturers, are hampering the export of their own goods by luring sailors from the steamships to the war munitions factories, says Dr. George Sidney Webster, secretary of the American Seaman's Friend society. This has been accomplished, he says, by offering higher wages than the sailor has been accustomed to receive, and he has reason to believe that the shipping men and the manufacturers have been bidding against each other for the sailors' services.

Adjutant General Hough Has Taken Records to Washington to Refute Sen. Borah's Charges

(Associated Press Telegram)
Columbus, April 17.—Armed with records of the Ohio National Guard, Adjutant General Hough went to Washington today to refute charges made by Senator Borah in the senate Saturday that the millions appropriated annually by the government for national guard maintenance were "shamefully wasted," and that nearly all the money was turned to the benefit of guard officers while the enlisted men received little or no benefit.

He planned on conferring with Senators Pomerene and Harding. No announcement was made here as to what statements the adjutant general intended making.

Governor Willis and Adjutant General Hough today vigorously went to the defense of the Ohio National Guard, in view of Senator Borah's charges of extravagance and misappropriation of funds against the guard in the senate Saturday. General Hough went to Washington to confer directly with Senators Pomerene and Harding, Governor Willis issued a statement, saying: "So far as the Ohio National Guard is concerned Senator Borah is entirely misinformed as to facts."

"Someone who is desirous of building up a vast standing army in this country at the expense of the national guard organization of the several states has been giving the senator the wrong dope. The national guard of Ohio was all right in the years 1911 to 1914 and is all right now. It was not made up of 'embezzlers' then and it certainly is not now."

"Every dollar of federal funds expended in Ohio is spent under the direct order and rules laid down by the war department of the United States government. The complaint as made by Senator Borah is for the years from 1911 to 1914, inclusive. These years, it should be remembered, are all prior to the beginning of the present state administration. 'In order that enlisted men could be better paid the practice in those years was to pay enlisted men out of state funds. For example, in 1911, officers of the Ohio National Guard drew $26,011, while enlisted men drew $52,602. In 1913, officers drew $20,701, while enlisted men drew $60,309. In 1914, officers drew $17,423 and enlisted men $53,395. These facts would appear to be refutation of the claims made by Senator Borah."

Washington Grows More Doubtful As Hours Pass and No Definite News Arrives of Finding Body

PURPOSE OF NEW ORGANIZATION IS TO PREPARE AMERICAN FARMERS FOR CHANGED CONDITIONS AFTER EUROPEAN WAR

To prepare American farmers for changed conditions after the European war, the National Agricultural Organization Society, of which these men are prominent officials, has just come into being. Its chief aim is the formation, affiliation and federation of co-operative societies among farmers. It will give them aid in marketing their products, and will supply instructors and lecturers upon co-operation. It will also send organizers into communities where there are no adequate farmers' organizations, and will give expert auditing aid and legal services.

All Is In Readiness for the "Forward Newark" Dinner; Campaign Committees Named

There still remains some tickets for tonight's banquet, which may be purchased at headquarters, 409 Trust Building or at the banquet hall this evening.

All is in readiness for the big "Forward Newark" dinner at 6 o'clock this evening at Knights of Pythias hall. Both Harry F. Atwood of Chicago and A. T. Seymour of Columbus, the out of town speakers, are here, and the program will be carried out as published.

The dinner marks the end of the period of preparation for the big membership campaign for the Chamber of Commerce which starts at 9:30 o'clock tomorrow morning. No one will be asked to sign up or pledge memberships at the affair tonight, as its purpose is to review the plans for the new organization and to hear noted authorities on the subject tell of the achievements that come from true co-operation.

Newark is thoroughly aroused to the need for a big, aggressive community building body, and leaders in the movement are elated at the interest being shown and the offers of support that have come from all sources. Men who have been in campaigns for the past twenty-five years declare that they have never seen such interest and earnest enthusiasm before.

The program tonight is considered one of the best that has ever been arranged here. Harry F. Atwood, who will close the meeting tonight, is not only a splendid orator with a wealth of good stories, but is an acknowledged national authority on commercial organization practices. Mr. Atwood was one of the organizers of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, and has appeared before commercial bodies in all parts of the country.

A. T. Seymour needs no introduction to Newark audiences. He has spoken here several times and is popular with audiences of all kinds. He is a former president of the Columbus Chamber of Commerce, and in as much as the organization there is of the same type as the one to be organized here, he will have an interesting message for Newark.

bureau of the Chamber of Commerce. That there is a great field of work here for this bureau is everywhere admitted.

J. R. Fitzgibbon the eloquent attorney, will talk on the "Value of Co-operation," while A. A. Stasel, always a strong and effective speaker will explain the working plan of the new organization. F. L. Beggs, one of the most eloquent men of the city will be toastmaster.

Elsewhere in this issue is a page advertisement showing the plans and purposes of the Chamber of Commerce movement. Every citizen should read this statement carefully so as to get the proper conception of the great undertaking now under way. This statement shows the care with which the new organization has been planned and on one who studies the plan can doubt its future success. This statement goes into the details (Continued on Page 2, Col. 3.)

AMERICAN HURT; SHIP TORPEDOED AND NO WARNING

(Associated Press Telegram)
Washington, April 17.—One of two Americans aboard the Russian bark Imperator from Gulfport, Miss., for Marseilles, France, was wounded when the vessel was fired upon without warning by an Austrian submarine off the Columbrede islands, according to official advice to the state department today.

SOCIALISTS

OF OHIO HAVE NOMINATED TOM CLIFFORD OF CLEVELAND, FOR GOVERNOR.

Other Nominations Made and All Will Be Ratified by State Convention in June.

(Associated Press Telegram)
Columbus, April 17.—Tom Clifford, of Cleveland, a printer and socialist candidate for governor in 1916, will lead that party's state ticket again this year, according to announcement today by O. G. Vanshoyk, state secretary. The nominations for state offices were made by popular referendum conducted by the socialist party organization.

Mr. Clifford was nominated by a vote of 726 to 421 over William Patterson of Toledo. He is 61 years of age, and has been active in socialist politics for many years. In 1910 he polled 60,000 votes.

The names to be submitted again are: For United States Senator, Edwin L. Hitchens of Norwood and C. E. Ruthenberg of Cleveland; Lieutenant Governor, George Bundy of Youngstown and Walter J. Millard of Cincinnati; secretary of state, M. J. Berry of Mansfield and Joseph Coope of Youngstown; treasurer, Frank Hinkle of Hamilton and Joseph Bowler of Creighton; auditor, Charles Bon-sall of Salem and Siegfried Neubauer of Cleveland; Judge of Supreme court (in addition to Mr. Madden), Wesley C. Bates of Columbus and James J. White of Toronto; National committeemen from Ohio (two to be nominated), C. E. Ruthenberg of Cleveland, Scott Wilkins of Lima, Alfred Wagenknecht of Cleveland and Margaret Prevey of Akron.

The state socialist convention will be held in Columbus, June 2, 3 and 4 to arrange a platform and ratify nominations.

Was to Have Reached Chihuahua City on Special Train Last Night, but American Consul Fletcher Has Not Forwarded News of Having Heard Even Rumors of the Bandit's Death, and Mexican Officials Have No Additional Information Upon the Subject

PERSHING'S REPORT ON THE BATTLE AT PARRAL

Differs Materially From That Submitted By Carranza Upon Which He Based His Request for the Withdrawal of American Troops—More Serious Than at First Was Reported—Reply to First Chief's Proposal is Being Drafted, But Until Report of Villa's Death Has Been Confirmed There Will Be No Change in the Present Program.

(Associated Press Telegram)
Washington, April 17.—Secretary Baker today received a dispatch from Naco saying that General Villa was last seen heading in the direction of the place where reports yesterday said he was buried. The dispatch was taken by war department officials to mean that the reports of Villa's death might be true. The dispatch was immediately sent to President Wilson.

GOMEZ ORDERED TO CHIHUAHUA.
(Associated Press Telegram)
Douglas, Ariz., April 17.—It is reported today that General Gomez has received orders from Minister of War Obregon to proceed with his troops to Chihuahua. General Gomez left Agua Prieta last night for Colonia Morelos.

ANOTHER REVOLUTION REPORTED PLANNED.
(Associated Press Telegram)
San Antonio, Texas, April 17.—General Antonio I. Villareal is attempting to start a new revolution against the Carranza government, according to a report received by Consul General Beltram from Mexican Consul Garcia at Laredo.

(Associated Press Telegram)
El Paso, April 17.—A dispatch was received by General Gavira, commander of the Juarez garrison from Cusihuiriachic at 10:30 o'clock this morning stating that the body of Francisco Villa had not arrived there at that hour.

General Gavira talked today with the telegraph operator at San Antonio, Chihuahua, and obtained further details of the reported finding of Villa's body.

According to the San Antonio operator, on last Saturday, General Cavazos and Colonel Carlos Carranza, who were at Cusihuiriachic, received information that a Villa band was operating in the neighborhood. Two Carranza officers with a body of men engaged the Villa bandits in a combat in which many Villa's followers were killed and wounded and some were captured.

A Villa colonel, who was captured, begged for his life and promised to lead his captors to the grave of the bandit if they would not kill him.

The operator at San Antonio said that General Cavazos and Colonel Carranza were taken by the prisoner to San Francisco, Borja, where the body is reported to have been unearthed.

The operator gave no further information to General Gavira other than that Villa was wounded on March 27. He did not know the date of the bandit's death.

General Gavira said that he would telegraph Minister of War Obregon requesting that the body be brought to Juarez. General Gavira said Villa would be buried as a bandit in the Juarez potter's field.

A mining concern here with a representative at Santa Barbara received a message that town was attacked by bandits.

PERSHING WANTS MORE CIVILIAN SCOUTS.
(Associated Press Telegram)
Columbus, N. M., April 17.—General Pershing has asked for more civilian scouts, especially those familiar with the district south of Parral. This was taken by military men here to indicate that the advanced cavalry detachments are pushing forward possibly into Durango.

(Associated Press Telegram)
Washington, April 17.—As the hours pass without confirmation of the story of the finding of the body of Francisco Villa, Washington grows more doubtful.

Villa's body was to have reached Chihuahua City by special train some time last night, but American Consul Fletcher has not even forwarded the rumors as to Villa's death, which must be circulating there.

The Mexican embassy here had no additional information. Its last report from Consul Garcia at El Paso said he was seeking confirmation.

State and war department officials refused to comment today on General Pershing's report of the Parral fight, which is much different from the version transmitted by General Carranza to support his suggestion that American troops be withdrawn. The American report shows that Carranza troops not only joined in the attack upon the little detachment of Americans, but followed them several miles as they withdrew to avoid a clash.

The majority of the Mexicans killed are reported by General Pershing to have been Carranza soldiers, one of whom was an officer. It was indicated at the state department that further details would be sought from American officers before a reply would be sent to General Carranza. Secretary Lansing planned originally to deal with the Parral incident as a separate question and not in the reply to the note suggesting the recall of the American expedition.

The reply to the Carranza proposal for withdrawal was still in preparation today.

Identifying Body May Be Difficult Even if It Is Found

(Associated Press Telegram)
El Paso, April 17.—Confirmation of Mexican reports that Francisco Villa's body had been exhumed at San Francisco, Borja, and was being taken to Chihuahua City, was still lacking at the headquarters of the de facto government at Juarez today. Gabriel Gavira, commander of Juarez garrison, waited information from official sources that would dispel any question of doubt over the reports of the finding of the bandit's body, but the Mexican telegraph lines were silent on the subject. "I still feel reasonably certain that the messages received Sunday that Villa's body had been found is correct," said Andres Garcia, Mexican consul here today. "I shall make every effort to have the body brought to Juarez where Americans who know him might make an identification."

Wise Toledo Mother Treats Her Children's Colds "Externally"

Mrs. Bertha Cook Finds the "Outside" Application, Vap-O-Rub, Better than Internal Dosing.

Intelligent mothers everywhere realize that children should be dosed as sparingly as possible. Still cough and cold troubles must not be neglected. Mrs. Bertha Cook, 306 Lee St., Toledo, Ohio, has solved this problem by use of the external treatment Vap-O-Rub.

Last winter when this treatment was being introduced in Toledo for the first time, Druggist C. E. Spaul presented Mrs. Cook with a complimentary jar, requesting that she give it a thorough trial and report the results.

Mrs. Cook writes:—

"I consider Vap-O-Rub the best medicine I have ever found for winter use, especially for children. It will not blister or burn, so the children don't dislike it and it is better than internal medicine in many ways. When I first tried Vap-O-Rub my little girl had had an awful cold and cough for some time. I used part of a jar on her and it gave great relief. During the winter I used two more large jars on my three children, and also on the grown folks of our family and found it fine for colds in the throat, head and lungs. In cases of hoarseness or croup I would just rub a little Vap-O-Rub over throat and chest, and cover with a warm flannel cloth, and also give them a little piece of the size of a bean, rolled in sugar. When my baby, two and a half years old, had pneumonia I used Vap-O-Rub liberally and found it a great help. I used it as directed and also dissolved some in hot water and boiled in a tea-kettle over her bed under a sheet tent. The vapors relieved the tightness in lungs and throat and proved a great help, and the attending physician advised my using it all winter with her. My three children all had whooping cough this summer, and I used it for this, applying it externally, and also using it in the tea-kettle, and found it loosened the cough and enabled them to raise the phlegm."

Vick's Vap-O-Rub comes in salve form and when applied over the throat and chest the body heat releases the ingredients in the form of vapors. In addition, it is absorbed through and stimulates the skin, aiding the vapors inhaled to relieve the congestion. It will be found superior to internal medicines for all forms of cold troubles, from head colds, asthma and catarrh, down to deep chest colds, sore throat, bronchitis, grippe, or incipient pneumonia. Three sizes, 25c, 50c or $1.00, at all druggists.

SCIENTISTS ARE IN CONVENTION AT WASHINGTON

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)

Washington, April 17.—The national academy of sciences met in annual session here today with prominent scientists from throughout the country in attendance. The session will continue for three days.

Dr. William H. Welch, of Baltimore, president of the academy, in presenting his annual report at the opening session, made announcement of the award of medals to Gifford

Pinchot, former government forecaster "for distinguished public service in organizing and directing the movement for the systematic conservation of the natural resources of the United States," and to Cleveland Abbe "for distinguished public service in establishing and organizing the United States weather service."

The award of a medal to Prof. Armin O. Leuschner, of the University of California, "for skill and ability in supervising the preparation of tables of the Watson Asteroids, involving original methods, and leading to results of much value to celestial mechanics," also was announced. Actual presentation of the medals, however, will take place later on during the meeting.

FONT PRESENTED ST. PAUL'S CHURCH ON PALM SUNDAY

The services at St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran church yesterday were crowned with good things for the estimable people. The services of the day opened with a large attendance of the Bible school. These were in charge of Mr. Miller Taafel, assistant superintendent. Mr. John Saur, the superintendent, being unavoidably detained from them.

The church services opened with the singing of the processional hymn by the newly vested choir. The regular order of the beautiful Lutheran service being followed, thereafter. The pastor preached an appropriate sermon, the theme being, "The Triumphal Entry into Jerusalem." At the close of the sermon the pastor dedicated the beautiful baptismal fountain and communion vessel, the latter being the gift of the Christenmathen. Bible class, of which Miss Margaret Arbaugh is the efficient teacher. The marble baptismal font is the gift of the Misses Hess and Sue Taafel and Messrs. Miller and Frank Taafel in memory of the departed parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Taafel, who were among the charter members of St. Paul's church in their life time. This is of Rutland marble of chaste and beautiful design, secured through the well known Newark Monument Works. This form is to be congratulated in the design and workmanship which was placed upon this beautiful font.

After the formal dedication of the font six children were baptized. A class of eleven catechumens were confirmed and seventeen adults were received into full membership of the church, all of whom had received the catechetical instruction in the 30 minutes of the Evangelical Lutheran church. A total of 34 members were received during the day. About 100 persons were to be received during the week and on Easter Sunday who will be received there were received from sickness and other causes from uniting yesterday. The number thus far added to the church under the administration of the Rev. Mr. Schmitt's pastorate is 102. The largest Palm Sunday attendance ever in the history of St. Paul's church characterized the services. The music for the morning was in charge of Mr. Harter. Miss Hattie Hagerstrand presiding at the organ. Mrs. Gertrude Schmitt sang "The Palm Branches," by Faure. The evening services were again marked by the high spiritual uplift which characterized the morning services. Miss Laura Dial being the soloist for this service. Her solo was much appreciated by all present.

There will be services each night during the week save Saturday night. There will be a Good Friday Matin service at 4 o'clock. The service on Good Friday night will consist of a brief preparatory service in preparation for the celebration of the holy communion on Easter Sunday morning at 8 o'clock and 10:30 o'clock. The choir will also render the beautiful sacred cantata, Stainer's Crucifixion. A silver offering will be received for the benefit of the choir. The pastor's themes for the evening services will be as follows: Monday night, "Christ in the Garden"; Tuesday night, "Christ Betrayed"; Wednesday night, "Christ Arrested"; Thursday night, "Christ Before Pilate"; Good Friday morning, at 8 o'clock, "Christ on the Cross."

COUNCIL WILL GET PETITION ON JITNEY BUS

A petition bearing the signatures of 39 residents of Hudson avenue, was handed to Councilman Dick Curry this morning for presentation at the regular meeting of council tonight. The petition is a protest against the operation of the jitney bus on Hudson avenue.

The petitioners claim that the bus breaks gas mantels, jars plastering from the walls of their homes and is a detriment to the street paving. They recommend that a lighter bus be put into service on this street and that pneumatic tires be used instead of solid rubber tires.

The Elmwood avenue petition probably will be presented to council tonight for action in stopping the operation of the bus on Elmwood avenue. Residents of this street make the same complaint as that voiced by Hudson avenue property owners.

TWO KILLED WHEN STREET CAR WENT OVER EMBANKMENT

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Cleveland, April 17.—Wm. Godfrey, motorman, and Cyrus Padaro, conductor, were fatally injured today when a street car on the Harvard-Benson line jumped the track at the west 101st street terminal, while rounding a curve, shot across the roadway and tumbled over a twenty foot bank, turning turtle twice in its descent to the bottom of the ravine. Godfrey and Padaro were pinned inside the wrecked car and firemen were required to release them. They are dying in a hospital. The car carried no passengers.

How's Your Blood?

PIMPLES AND ERUPTIONS MEAN BAD BLOOD.

People who have impure or impoverished blood should be careful to take only a vegetable and temperate remedy such as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is and has been for nearly 50 years. Its ingredients printed on wrapper.

The first day you start to take this reliable medicine, impure germs and accumulations begin to separate in the blood and are then expelled through the eliminative organs.

In place of the impurities, the arteries and veins gradually get fresh vitalized blood and the action of this good blood on the skin means that pimples, boils, carbuncles, eczema, rash, acne and all skin blemishes will disappear. Then you must remember that when the blood is right, the liver, stomach, bowels and kidneys become healthy, active and vigorous and you will have no more trouble with indigestion, backache, headache and constipation.

Get Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery to-day from any medicine dealer, in tablet or liquid form, or send to cents for trial package.

Springfield, Ohio.—"I am glad to speak highly of 'Golden Medical Discovery.' I used it because I needed a tonic. I also had a cough. I had used other remedies which did little good. Then I took 'Golden Medical Discovery' and it helped me to get over the cough and made my breath better."—MRS. C. B. WILSON, 717 Broadway, Springfield, Ohio.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are tiny, sugar-coated, anti-bilious granules—the smallest and the easiest to take. One little Pellet for a laxative.

(Associated Press Telegram)
El Paso, April 17.—Disappointment was freely expressed here today over the lack of any official confirmation of the death of Francisco Villa. Mexican officials here and in Juarez, while still professing confidence in the truth of the report, could offer no explanation as to the silence of Colonel Carlos Carranza and the other officers and officials who were reported to have the body of the bandit in charge.

A number of newspaper correspondents and a few other Americans left here early today for Chihuahua in the hope that the reported finding of Villa's body would prove true. Several Americans, who at first had intended to go, abandoned the trip, some through skepticism, and others because of rioting that was reported here to have occurred in the Mexican state capital during the last two days.

Messages received here in regard to this rioting stated that there had been no anti-American outbreak and that the battle was due solely to the desperate condition of the masses of the people who are facing starvation. Corn is selling in Chihuahua at two pesos, worth four cents American, a quart; beans, the staple feature of the poorer Mexicans' diet, costs two and a half pesos a kilogram (a little over two pounds); lard is 15 pesos a quart. With the standard of pay for a day's work at two pesos, the laboring classes are having a hard time keeping body and soul together.

According to the messages received here, the rioters have looted several food shops and only very half-hearted attempts to control them have been made by the soldiers, who are themselves in almost as bad a plight as the civilians.

Arrivals from Parral report that there are only three Americans left in that city. These three are men who have married into Mexican families and regard themselves as immune from the prevailing hostility toward the "Gringos." Among the Americans who left Parral following the fighting between the Mexican garrison and American soldiers on Wednesday was a woman missionary.

PRICE OF BIBLES IS NEARLY DOUBLED ON ACCOUNT OF THE WAR.

(Associated Press Telegram)
New York, April 17.—The price of Bibles has increased and is likely to advance still further because of the war. Statements issued by religious publication societies show that the expense of publishing prayer books, hymnals and other religious volumes is so much higher than heretofore that the buyers have been obliged to pay nearly double the prices of last year. This is due mainly to the advance in the cost of paper, ink, leather and glue. These conditions effect the usual heavy sale of religious publications at Easter.

WHY SPRING COLDS ARE DANGEROUS

If Neglected They Lead to Serious,
Perhaps Fatal Results.

If you get cold at this time of year and try to "let it wear off," it frequently develops into a stubborn throat trouble, which may in turn become chronic asthma, bronchitis or worse. It is important to remember that Father John's Medicine relieves cold because of its nourishing body-building elements, which give strength to the system and enable each organ to resume its normal functions. Father John's Medicine is not a patent medicine, contains no injurious drugs, but is a pure food medicine, for those who are weak and rundown.

PANCOAST ADVISES
"GINGER UP" CAMPAIGN TO SELL ADVERTISING.

Chalmers L. Pancoast, a product of Newark, who is connected with the Chicago Tribune, recently sprang into the limelight with a new plan for selling advertising space in newspapers. The new plan is called the "Ginger Up Campaign," and has proved to be one of the best advertising schemes ever submitted to the Adman's Idea club.

The "Ginger Up Campaign" idea is to instill an advertising staff with renewed interest, energy and enthusiasm, which will result in higher efficiency and greater producing powers.

A little colored girl, a newcomer in Sunday school, gave her name to the teacher as "Fertilizer Johnson." Later the teacher asked the child's mother if that was right.

"Yes, ma'am, dat's her name," said the fond parent. "You see, she was named for me and her father."

Her father's name am Ferdinard and my name is Liza. So we named her Fertilizer." — Boston ton Transcript.

Telling of Proposed Secession of American States to the Republic of Mexico.

(Associated Press Telegram)
Columbus, N. M., April 17.—A new war of secession by which Texas, Colorado, Nevada, Arizona, New Mexico, Utah and California will declare their independence with a view to annexing themselves to the Republic of Mexico, is the news that El Democrita, a daily paper published in Chihuahua City, has just announced. Jails are to be suppressed and the negroes and Indians, who had been "subjugated by Yankee gold, are to be liberated," if the plot succeeds.

Copies of El Democrita, a constitutional organ, with this exclusive piece of news spread over its front page, have just been brought to El Paso by Americans from Chihuahua. The story of the conspiracy is as follows:

"Jose Vergara, a resident of San Diego, Texas, known as General Vergara founded the junta of freedom. Documents that he issued found their way into the editorial rooms of El Democrita, revealing a master mind. From his office in San Diego, General Vergara spread his propaganda, gaining wealth and recruits, until the north American republic is on the point of splitting in halves."

SINK ALLIES' SHIPS

Capt. Charles von Kleist.

Capt. Charles von Kleist, a relative of the late Prince Bismarck, is under arrest in New York for complicity in plots to sink allies' ships. A number of Germans are already implicated, but von Kleist has furnished the authorities with most of the evidence. He says the money for the bombs was furnished by Capt. Frans Rintelen, German army captain, and by Capt. von Papen and Capt. Boy-Ed, military and naval attaches of the German embassy, who were expelled from this country last December.

Investment heating!

"Well bought is half sold" runs the old maxim. Of course every man buys with uppermost thought of a permanent home, but the prudent man buys his home also with an eye to its being a "good investment, if he or his heirs should want to sell." The lot is bought and the house built in the belief that the property will increase in value. Why therefore should anyone nowadays discount or depreciate his property by failing to modernize it at once with a permanent, comfort-producing outfit of

"I want this foundation of home comfort! It will prove an investment to me—not an expense!"

AMERICAN & IDEAL A RADIATORS & BOILERS

No rusting, no repairs, no blackening, no annual storage! The consumption of fuel is automatically regulated—the rooms are kept at just the degree wanted—so no coal is wasted. All local fuels may be used including the cheapest screenings, pea coal, lignite, wood and all grades of soft and hard coal. Of all the features of your home, you will say that this is the most important and best paying investment.

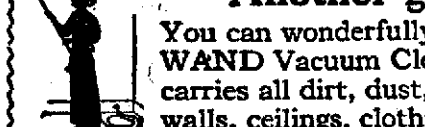

A No. 4123 IDEAL Boiler and 420 sq. ft. of 38-8190 were used to heat this cottage. At this price the goods can be bought of any reputable competent fitter. This did not include cost of labor, pipe, valves, freight, etc., which vary according to climatic and other conditions.

A lifetime of lowest heating cost!

Don't skimp on the heating; get IDEAL—the best there is—costs no more than inferior makes, due to our enormous annual output. Buildings thus equipped sell quicker, or bring 10% to 15% higher rental; or command a larger loan.

Why not decide at once to get this permanent investment heating? Thousands of old buildings of all classes are equipped annually. Present attractive price will surprise you! MAN ENTERS RACE
FOR CLERKSHIP

Leonard Kelley of Mt. Vernon, accompanied by Ed L. Parker and several other friends, drove down from the Knox county capital in a big eight cylinder car last evening to attend the Raymond lecture at the High school auditorium. Mr. Kelley, who resided in this city for a number of years, called on a number of his old time friends all of whom were glad to see him. "Kel" has a splendid position with the Pennsylvania railway and is also deeply interested in politics. His friends state that he is being urged to make the race for the Republican nomination for county clerk and may cast his hat into the ring. He will have the best wishes of a legion of acquaintances in this city.

FRAZIER WELL
FLOWS 100 BELLS.
OF OIL PER DAY

The oil well on the farm of Samuel Frazier, Muskingum county commissioner, near Frazeyburg, was shot at 6 o'clock Friday evening with prospects of being the best well in the field. The production is estimated at from 75 to 100 barrels a day. The well is the property of the Columbus Oil and Gas Co., and the company has placed tanks holding 700 barrels on the site to care for the flow.

The good showing of this well has increased activity in the field and four new locations have been made. The Columbus company will drill on the C. W. Fleming and the George Sweigert farms and the Everett Co. has made locations on the farm of the Shipley heirs and on the T. S. O'Bannon farm.

ESTABLISHED IN 1820

Entered as Second Class Matter March 10, 1882, at the postoffice at Newark, Ohio, under Act of March 4, 1879.

With the glaring evidences of nepotism permeating the state administration, with entire families of Ada graduates and Willis favorites holding most of the offices, and true "Glues" holding all the rest, regular Republicans who labored in 1914 can only hope that things will be better for them next time.

The Columbus Saturday Monitor recently denied that the Geiger-Jones company, dealers in securities, owned that worthy publication issued to aid in building up a Willis personal machine among civil service employees, in contempt of county newspapers and county committees. We apologize for even thinking of the thing. The last issue of the Monitor, in required ownership affidavit, says that J. S. Ralston, of the Ralston Steel Car company, owns the stock. The Geiger-Jones company only owns Ralston.

Public Sentiment and Sanitation.

The sense of smell was not given us merely to enjoy roses and violets. It performs humbler, but even more vital services. Were it not for that faculty, many sources of infection would pour out their poison undiscovered. But many people and many communities seem bereft of this beneficent sense.

In rural and suburban districts outside of sewers, many property owners are putting in private drainage systems and plumbing. They feel that they have made a great advance in manner of living. That may or not be true. A great deal of such work is done by incompetent men. It may turn out later that the pipe running out to the cesspool has insufficient fall, or a dozen other faults show themselves when the pipes fill with grease. Then the owner may wish he had stuck to the more primitive habits of his neighbors.

A lady visited the other day a well known town of some size and prosperity, with some idea of taking up her residence there. She noticed a distinctly unpleasant odor in the village. An old resident remarked that it was merely the drains and cesspools, which would get to smelling on some days. The lady went elsewhere. Some people would call her old maidish. Yet there are many people who feel that way nowadays. Such consideration affect real estate values.

A town may have good schools and good streets, and be lamentably slow in sanitation. Public sentiment moves tardily in this matter. Rural districts are particularly negligent. Wells are dug close to sources of pollution. Vegetables are stored in cellars and allowed to decay. Flies are permitted to multiply unchecked. Ice is cut from contaminated ponds and shipped all over the country. Cows are milked in dark and dusty barns.

Boards of health usually know what good sanitation is, but they find the public slow to realize the need of strict regulation. But it is much cheaper to close up sources of contagion than to pay for disease epidemics.

are there to do something which the Carranza troops continuously failed to do. The Americans should stay there until more substantial assurance of respect for American territory and lives has been secured.

Carranza's whole argument rests on the smug and groundless assumption that here is a real, effective government in Mexico. If there had been, the Columbus outrage would never have occurred. Washington acted with decision in going into Mexico. It should show no less decision in dealing with the premature demand for withdrawal.

Springs.
Now fades the last long streak of snow,
Now blizzards every maze of quirk
About the flowering squares, and thick
By Ashen roots the violets blow
Now rings the woodland loud and long,
The distance takes a louder hue,
And crowned in vander living blue
The lark becomes a sightless song
Now dance the lights on the lawn and lea
The locks are whiter down the vale,
And milder every milk-said
On winding stream or distant sea:
Weep now the seaweed pipes, or dives
In order green and clean, and fit
The happy birds, that change their sky
To build and brood, that live their lives
From land to land, and my regret
Spring weeks are too; and my regret
Comes an April violet
And buds and blossoms like the rest.

Daddy's Bedtime

How Karen
Danced With Her Red Shoes.

[Adapted from Hans Christian Andersen.]

"It's late. Let's start the bedtime story, daddy," said Jack.
"When a little girl who lived with an old lady got an invitation to go to a nice ball, where she could wear her new red shoes, she forgot all else," daddy told Jack and Evelyn. "She just ran to the ball and began to dance. But the red shoes would not let her do what she liked. When she wanted to go to the right the red shoes danced left. When she wanted to dance left the shoes went right and down the room when she wanted to go up the room. So she bumped into many people, and finally the shoes danced down the stairs, through the street and right out the town gate. Away the red shoes danced with the little girl in them, right away into a dark forest. Far away up above the trees shone something which she thought was the moon, for it was a face. But when she looked twice she saw it was an old soldier with a red beard, who nodded and said, 'See what pretty dancing shoes!'
"This frightened the little girl, whose name was Karen, and she wanted to throw her shoes away, but when she tried to pull them off they stuck fast to her feet. She tore off her stockings, but the shoes had grown to be a part of her. So off she had to dance over fields and meadows, in rain, in sunshine, by night and by day. But nights it was fearful."
"Did she ever meet any giants?" asked Evelyn.
"No. But she danced right through a graveyard into the open door of a church. Here stood an angel in long white robes and wings that reached from his shoulders to his feet. His face was very stern, and he said to Karen: 'You shall dance in your red shoes till you are pale and cold. You shall dance from door to door, and whenever you meet proud, vain children you must knock at their door so that they may see how vain you are.'
"Mercy!" shrieked Karen, but she had no time to say more, for the red shoes bore her out of the gate, into the fields, over roadways and paths, on and on. One morning she danced past a door that she knew well. She heard the sound of a hymn and went inside the church to find the old lady she used to live with lying with flowers all about her. Then she knew that the old lady was dead and that she was alone in the world with her dancing red shoes. She wanted to stay a minute by her friend, but on and on the shoes carried her through the nights. Sometimes they took her over briars, so that she stumbled and her feet bled. But on she danced till she came to a lonely little house in a meadow," daddy ended.
So Jack and Evelyn

Spirit of the Press

Newark Needs Them.
A motor-cycle equipped with apparatus for cleaning the streets and provided and operated by the same motor is an efficient and comparatively inexpensive aid for the street cleaning department. The refuse in the street is loosened by a steel brush fastened in front, picked up by a rotary brush, and finally deposited in a receptacle carried on the machine.—The World's Work.

Enforcing Civil Service.
The Chicago Herald asks: "What man in this day is likely to stand up and protest against the sane and timely demand for the enforcement in good faith of the civil service law?" Well, there are many of that sort around here, but they belong to the politician crowd, whose sole patriotism is expressed in the word "spoils." And there are those who are not only opposed to the enforcement of the law in good faith, but who are in favor of the repeal of the law altogether, and so turn the public service over to the bosses and gangsters. The plunderbund may think they have a great principle to establish, but the fact is that alleged principle threatens our democratic institutions and drags our politics down to the gutter. Civil service reform is not a party matter; it is a question of common decency. The only thing to do with the civil service law is to give it more breadth and scope and enforce it to the letter.—Ohio State Journal.

Rippling Rhymes

Unappreciative Man.
"My husband," sighed the weeping wife, "has made a rum of my life. He does not seem to yearn or long for Higher Things, like Art and Song. The sordid things to him appeal; he'd rather have a good square meal, than sit with me through dreary days, reading Robert Browning's lays. A noble painting on the wall makes no appeal to him at all; with scorn he'll pass the picture by, and say he'd rather have a pipe. Because the bread is always hard, because the coffee's weak and thin, he'll make a most unseemly din. He can't be made to realize that noble odes beat oyster fries, that Josen's pen, surcharged with ink, surpasses sausage in the link, that Handel's grand harmonic burst beats schweitzer cheese or liver-wurst. So here I sit upon the floor, and weep and wait forevermore."
—WALT MASON.

(Tacoma, Wash., Ledger.)
The efficiency of the postal system in deciphering cryptic addresses on envelopes was strikingly demonstrated here today when a letter bearing the following mysterious address was delivered to Representative William A. Ashbrook of Ohio, without the loss of one minute of time.
"The Widows' Pension bill, Washington, D. C."
The letter came all the way from Montana. There was not another syllable, letter or scratch on the envelope.
That this letter, therefore, should find its way to Representative Ashbrook as promptly as if it had been addressed "Hon. William A. Ashbrook, M. C., Washington, D. C." may strike the ordinary person as quite unusual, but to the experts of the postal service it was a simple proposition.
Early in the session Representative Ashbrook, who is a member of the committee on invalid pensions, introduced a widows' pension bill of general application to soldiers' widows throughout the country. It was endorsed by the full committee on invalid pensions and thus becomes the measure that is slated for passage. Therefore, when the letter came addressed to "The widows' pension bill" it was properly delivered, right off the bat, to "Bill" Ashbrook.

To love each other well,
To plant a rose beside some door

The Arizona Kicker

SUNRISE EDITION U. S. A. SPECIAL EXTRA

OUR REGRETS.
WE are sorry for the little affair in the common council the other evening, but as mayor and presiding officer we had to pull our guns on Alderman Davidson or suffer a loss of dignity.

He has been aching for a row for months past and had offered odds of three to one that he could bluff us down.

We understand that the doctor dug out the bullet and that the alderman will be around in a week or two.

ADVERTISING.
WE formerly believe that advertising pays. Here in this town it would be a dead loss to advertise in our contemporary, because he would have to use single nails in place of type to set it up and because no one but his uncle and his wife and himself read his alleged newspaper, and they are too poor to buy anything.

But advertising in the Kicker pays.

SHOCKED SOCIETY.
High society in this town is making a gigantic attempt to be shocked because Mrs. Colonel D'Aubrey sent the growler to a saloon on her birthday, but it is a tempest that will soon be over.

LITERARY TASTE.
Colonel John Roberts stopped his paper last week because there were only fourteen murder items in it and his usual dose is twenty-one.

We had to overland 60 exchanges to find as many as we did, and we rather feel glad the colonel is off the list.

He's got a regular mania for murder items, and if anybody has 600 of them in a scrap book the colonel will pay at least $50 for the outfit and send every one of them over five times.

—M. QUAD.

A WARNING.
Let our readers bear it in mind that as postmaster we sleep in the postoffice, but as postmaster we don't get up at 2 o'clock in the morning to look for mail, and any one who tries to shoot us out of bed at that hour will get the worst of it.

LEFT IN THE LURCH.
Several weeks ago seven citizens of Grass Valley clubbed together and paid an eastern agency $50 apiece to send on seven women in search of husbands. The women arrived the other day.

The youngest of the lot was fifty years old, and the handsomest had a catarract on her left eye and a broken nose.

The Grass Valley men took one brief glance, and then bolted for the woods, and the women were shipped to Dem-ver next day.

BLOCKADED

Every Household in Newark Should Know How to Resist It.

If your back aches because the kidneys are blocked, You should help the kidneys with their work.

Doan's Kidney Pills are especially for weak kidneys. Recommended by thousands—home testimony proves their merit. Mrs. J. W. Mullen, 7-12 East Church St., Newark, says: "My back bothered me constantly and when I tried to do any housework, sharp pains shot through my loins. Often it seemed impossible for me to stand. Mornings I was so lame that I could hardly move. One of the family had used Doan's Kidney Pills with good results and I got some at the City Drug Store. Three boxes relieved the pains in my back and today my kidneys are normal."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Mullen had. Foster-McMillan Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

Life Insurance Companies Report Health Policies On The Increase

The fact that health insurance—a form of protection hardly known a few years ago, is increasing year after year has been pointed out as one of the most convincing proofs that Americans are finally coming to recognize the value of health, as well as its comforts.

And it is gratifying to also find greater regard for the laws of health as a natural result of this awakened interest.

One little straw which shows which way the wind blows is the report of druggists that the public is turning from the dangerous harsh habit-forming laxatives back to the old fashioned castor oil, which physicians say is the only laxative that should be used in the home for either children or adults.

Castor oil is now put up in a jellied form called Covington's CASTOR-JELL, which is 94 per cent pure castor oil with a delicious orange flavor—added.

Clubs are invited to attend in a body the lectures and cookery lessons of Miss Hanko at the High School Auditorium.

Society

Mr. Louis B. Christ of Jacksonville entertained on last Sunday with a delightful dinner for her relatives. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Swartz of Newark, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Grubs, Mr. and Mrs. Owen Tavenner, and daughter Pauline, Mr. and Mrs. Angus Scottler and son Harold, and Mr. William Tavenner.

Serist—Williams.
Rev. W. D. Ward solemnized the marriage of Miss Laura E. Williams and Mr. Harley Serist on Saturday evening at 6 o'clock at the parsonage of the Central Church of Christ. They were unattended. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Williams of North Tenth street, while the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Serist of North Fourth street, and is employed as a machinist at the B. & O. Mr. and Mrs. Serist will reside in Newark.

The following women attended the district meeting of the Ladies Auxiliary, Knights of St. John, which was held in the auditorium of the St. Francis school in Buttle avenue, Columbus, on Sunday: Mrs. Margaret Frenier, Mrs. Sarah Streit, Mrs. Winifred Murdoch, Mrs. Besse Ritter, Mrs. Margaret Holtschulte, Misses Anna Stare, Florence Hickey and Harriet Leach.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Woolees were surprised Friday evening by a few of their friends from Coshocton. Those calling were Miss Emma Murphy, Miss Nellie Walker, Miss Effie Martin, Miss Myrtle Timmerman, Miss Clark, Miss Miller, and Mr. Smith.

Mr. Clegg's class of the First M. E. church gave a miscellaneous shower on Friday evening at the home of Miss Lela Davis honoring Miss Hazel Varner. Miss Varner, a bride to be, received many pretty gifts. Dainty refreshments were served the members of the class.

On Saturday afternoon Miss Gladys Ayers delightfully entertained the members of the Conrard club. The affair was in the nature of a miscellaneous shower, honoring Mrs. Charles Wagenheim, formerly Miss Ruth Jones of Fruit Hill farm. The rooms were prettily arranged with Easter flowers, carrying out a color scheme of blue and white. The hours were spent in needlework and at six o'clock the guests retired to the dining room where dainty place cards seated the guests and a three course luncheon was served to the following: Mrs. Charles Wagenheim, Mrs. Stanford Smith, Mrs. Wesley Coffman, Mrs. Milford Jones, Anabel Conrad, Nellie Fleming, Freda Wagenheim, Nellie Smith, Gladys Keenan, Isabelle Somers, and Miss Alice Ford of Columbus, Mrs. Ursel Swain assisted in serving.

Mrs. F. H. Wall was hostess to the members of the Coterie club on Saturday afternoon when she entertained at her home in Buckingham street. The following interesting program was taken from the calendar for April 21:

Is Time and Money spent Upon Dress Worth While?
Affirmative—Mrs. F. P. Winn.
Negative—Mrs. D. B. Hunt.
Reading—Selected—Mrs. P. H. Fry.

Quotations, Carleton—Mrs. Thurman Tower.
Critic—Mrs. L. N. Bradley.

The guests of the club were Mrs. Theodore Taylor, Mrs. Edward Hirst, and Miss Maud James.

The annual business meeting of the Miscellaneous Needleworkers will be held on Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. John Brodbeck in Tuscarawas street.

Miss Lucille McEwen of Wyoming street was a guest at a party given for Miss Ruth Day in Columbus on Friday.

Mrs. T. J. Haynes entertained at her home in West Main street on Wednesday evening with a kitchen shower honoring Miss Evelyn Canfield. At ten o'clock a dainty two-course dinner was served. Covers were laid for Miss Canfield, Mrs. Blanche Canfield, Mrs. Walter Melick, Mrs. Carl Nutter, Misses Esther Graef, Louise Kuster, Alice Yates,

FIVE GENERATIONS IN SCIOTO COUNTY FAMILY, WHO HAVE NEWARK RELATIVES

Five generations are represented in the Scioto county family shown here, members of which are related to A. A. Cunningham of Wilson street. Mrs. Melissa Cunningham is shown seated at the right and her daughter, Mrs. Agnes Sergeant, is the figure standing on the right. Her grandson, John L. Sergeant, is shown standing and her granddaughter, Mrs. Amy Underwood, is seated beside Mrs. Cunningham and is holding the representative of the fifth generation. In this family there are eleven children, sixty-one grandchildren, forty-nine great grandchildren and five children of the fifth generation.

Clara Copeland, Nolle Frenier, and Ethel Haynes.

Misses Freda and Nellie Schoeller entertained their sewing club in honor of Miss Delcie Reid who is to be an April bride and surprised her with a miscellaneous shower when she received many beautiful and useful presents.

The evening was spent in sewing and music. Miss Mabelle Kellenberger rendered several beautiful solos. A dainty luncheon was served by the hostess.

The employees of the Licking Laundry served a dainty two course luncheon in honor of Miss Delcie Reid who is to be an April bride.

The Sick.

HOLY WEEK SERVICES AT HOLY TRINITY LUTHERAN.

A number of the Protestant churches locally are having special services during this memorable season of the church-year. Holy Trinity enjoyed very large attendances upon her Thursday evening Lenten services. In addition to these Holy Trinity Evangelical Lutheran church will have four services during this week—Holy Week or Passion Week. The pastor of the church, the Rev. R. A. Houk, will preach. His subject Tuesday evening will be "Blind and Bitter Unbelief"; Wednesday evening: "The Crucifixion"; Thursday evening: "The Institution of the Supper"; Friday evening: "The Suffering Servant." The Friday evening service will also be the service preparatory to the Holy Communion, which is to be celebrated on Easter Sunday morning.

Obituary

Daniel Webster Drumm.
Daniel Webster Drumm, residing near Pataskala, died at Grant Hospital in Columbus on Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Recently he was climbing over a barbed wire fence, and lacerated his left leg. Blood poisoning resulted, and caused his death. He was aged 46 years, 8 months and 26 days, and is survived by his wife and two small sons.

Funeral services will be held at the home near Pataskala on Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, and the body will be shipped to Clay Lick, where services will be held on Wednesday morning and interment will be made in the Clay Lick cemetery.

Mrs. Harriet Smith.
Mrs. Harriet Smith, 78 years old, a lifelong resident of Newark, died at noon Sunday at her home, 80 Union street, death being due to infirmities. She was the widow of Daniel Smith, who died about six years ago. Mrs. Smith was born in this city and was reared by her grandfather Abram Miller, a pioneer resident of Newark.

Mrs. Smith was for years a member of the First Presbyterian church. She is survived by one son Frank Smith who lived at home.

Funeral services will be held Wednesday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock. Rev. C. G. Hazlett officiating. Burial at Cedar Hill cemetery.

MEETING OF LOYAL MEN'S BROTHERHOOD

The regular meeting of the Loyal Men's Brotherhood of the Central Church of Christ will be held in the auditorium of the church this (Monday) evening. The special feature of the evening will be work put on by the Boy Scouts, under the efficient direction of Scoutmaster S. H. Farmer. The boys have been doing splendid work the past six months; and this evening there will be an excellent opportunity for the public to learn more of the nature and ideals of the Boy Scout movement. A free will offering for the benefit of their camp fund will be taken. Ladies, as well as gentlemen, will be welcome. The Brotherhood conference will begin promptly at 7:30, and the program will begin at 8 o'clock. A cordial invitation to all who are interested in the work of the Boy Scouts, or who care to know more about it, to attend this meeting this evening.

MAN'S BODY FOUND IN THE OHIO RIVER

(Associated Press Telegram)
Cincinnati, April 17.—The body of a man was pulled from the Ohio river at the mouth of Mill creek today by Louis Atkins, a fisherman. In life the man had been 5 feet 6 inches tall and weighed about 180 pounds. He wore a dark mustache. Blue overalls and a brown coat were on the body which apparently had been in the river for a long time. The police believe he may have been one of the victims of the explosion of the steamboat Sam Brown at Huntington several weeks ago.

MARRIED 60 YEARS AGO TODAY NEWARK COUPLE CELEBRATE DIAMOND WEDDING

MRS. JOHN HETRICK
A bride 60 years ago.

Sixty years ago, a farmer's daughter living near Glenford, O., was united in marriage to a promising young business man of Newark. Today in the twilight of the fading years, this same couple, Mr. John Hetrick and his wife Caroline, 135 South Fourth street, are reviewing their yesterdays. It is the sixtieth anniversary of their marriage.

The anniversary was not marked by any ceremony or celebration. Quietly—this couple who more than a half century ago were united in holy wedlock—traveled back over the intervening years to April 17, 1856. Many were the cares and trials they had faced together in those sixty years of companionship. Their two children, now grown to manhood with families of their own, were many miles away, but this couple knew that within the homes of their children, homage was being paid them by their kin.

Mr. Hetrick, who for many years has been engaged in the gun repairing business in North Fourth street, has passed the 87th milestone in his life and his wife the 83d. The couple came to Newark January 29, 1850. They have two sons, Frank N. Hetrick of Beaver Dam, Wis., and Elmer Hetrick of Kansas City, Mo.

Although the pictures accompanying this article were taken many years ago, friends of the couple will instantly recognize the features.

Mrs. Hetrick has been confined to her home with rheumatism for several years but is not badfast, and manages by the use of a cane to do her necessary housework without assistance.

Mr. Hetrick regularly goes to his place of business on the second floor of his own building on Fourth street, near the old M. E. church.

Every Sunday finds him in his pew at the Second Presbyterian church of which he has been an elder for many, many years. It is doubtful if he has missed a Wednesday night prayer meeting for half a century, and he faithfully attends all meetings of the session as well as taking part in many of the church's social activities.

"The Forward Newark Movement"

A General Statement of the Plans and Purposes of The Campaign For The Newark Chamber of Commerce Prepared Under The Direction of The Campaign Committee.

The movement for a greater and more prosperous Newark through a strong centralized Chamber of Commerce is an expression of a general demand on the part of business and professional men for an organization commensurate with the wealth and population of Newark and its needs as a commercial, industrial and agricultural center.

Such an organization must be aggressive in character, representative in membership and efficient in finances and management.

Its governing principle will be that there is nothing too great for it to undertake and nothing too small for it to do if it is for the best interest of Newark.

Its primary purpose will be to accomplish the greatest good for the greatest number of people in Newark. It will be non-partisan, non-sectional and non-sectarian.

It will be given the elements of stability, permanence and financial strength.

All commercial, civic, industrial and agricultural interests will receive continuous and intelligent attention in order that the city may be developed to its fullest possibilities and be made a most desirable place in which to live.

Four Essentials

The aims and purposes of the Chamber of Commerce must be as broad as the community itself.

To realize these ambitions, four essentials are required:

A REPRESENTATIVE MEMBERSHIP—A membership made up of representatives of every Commercial interest, or every Trade, of every Industry, and of every Profession, so that it may be truthfully said that when the Chamber of Commerce speaks or acts, it is speaking or acting for all the interests of Newark.

ADEQUATE WORKING FUNDS—Money to carry out worthy projects calculated to promote the welfare of the town and its people as a whole, after these projects have been carefully analyzed and approved by its duly authorized officials or by the membership.

ACTIVE MORAL SUPPORT—Guaranteeing to the organization the personal service of the men in the community upon whose shoulders rests the responsibility of shaping the destiny of the town's future.

TRAINED DIRECTION—A secretary who has been trained in commercial organization work and who can direct the activities of the Chamber of Commerce along the same efficient lines as a general manager of a modern and successful corporation.

The Future of Newark

The future of Newark depends upon the manner in which her citizens give their time, attention, and co-operation to the work of Community building.

Newark is located in a territory with untold possibilities for development. It is, however, in competition with progressive and powerful rivals, each of which is endeavoring to outstrip the others and gain such a dominant position that its size and strength will enable it to maintain its position of supremacy.

We hold to the belief that Newark has an equal opportunity to go forward continuously, but that it must come from the most loyal and intelligent co-operation on the part of her citizens.

This belief has resulted in the decision for a Chamber of Commerce, and to give through it to Newark the best possible means for concentrating force of its citizenship for securing the maximum of results.

In order to have the most efficient and effective type of commercial organization, the committees recommend the adoption of the standard form of commercial organization, a form that has been recommended by the National Association of Commercial Executives and the Chamber of Commerce of the United States to secure the most effective results.

Membership and Dues.

In our investigations we have found that the experience of all cities and towns has proved the impracticability in trying to finance a Chamber of Commerce in the way we have been doing with our organizations in the past. The plan providing for annual dues of $25 per year has been universally adopted in the most progressive commercial organizations throughout the United States. By making the dues $25, the interest of the member is better secured and a sufficient fund of money will be raised so that it will not be necessary to "pass the hat" from time to time for civic and commercial organization purposes.

To insure permanency to this Chamber of Commerce memberships will be taken only on a three year basis but payable annually. This will enable the organization to plan its work for more than one year in advance and will give it the necessary permanency to insure its success. In adopting the three year plan the committee has taken the advice of all leading authorities.

The plan further provides for "plural memberships," which means that individuals and firms will be asked to invest in the Chamber of Commerce in proportion to their material interest in the community and to the benefits they may expect to derive from its work.

Will Employ Trained Secretary

The Board of Directors of the Newark Chamber of Commerce will be pledged to employ an able, trained and experienced Secretary. This committee has directed "Town Development," the commercial organization magazine, to recommend to it a number of trained and successful secretaries. These men will be investigated and the data turned over to the Board of Directors so that no time will be lost in securing this official at an early date.

Plan of Organization

The Chamber of Commerce will be organized on the Bureau plan, a feature that has been adopted by several hundred commercial bodies in recent years. This plan is modeled on the departmental organization of the modern business concern, and brings about concentration along a number of different lines by groups of men directly interest in those various lines.

The following bureaus will be organized immediately following the membership campaign:

- MERCANTILE BUREAU,
- CIVIC BUREAU,
- INDUSTRIAL BUREAU,
- PUBLICITY AND CONVENTION BUREAU,
- AGRICULTURAL BUREAU,

Other bureaus such as Traffic Bureau, Good Roads Bureau, Real Estate Bureau, etc., etc., may be organized when needed.

At the conclusion of the membership campaign this week an "information blank" will be mailed to each member to ascertain the lines of activity he is most interested in. He will then be assigned to the Bureau or Bureaus which include these activities. If the member is a manufacturer, he will naturally choose the industrial bureau. If he is a merchant he will naturally prefer the mercantile bureau. It will be permissible, however, for members to elect to be in more than one bureau. This plan brings together men who are thinking in like lines and talking in like terms and the maximum of results can naturally be expected.

The dominating features, as distinguished from the present plan of organization from former organizations in Newark are:

- (a) Direct and close relationship between the membership and the organization, and the placing of responsibility on heads of bureaus for the work of their bureaus.
- (b) Opportunity for the individual members to express their preference as to which division of activity they would like to center their interest and extend their energies.
- (c) Opportunity for active work on the part of the membership through special committees, the result being a more general distribution of service and activity.
- (d) Complete co-ordination of all forces within the organization, and centralization and administrative authority in the Board of Directors.
- (e) The formation of definite and concrete plans by bureaus before presentation for approval to the Board of Directors.

Board of Directors

The Board of Directors of the Chamber of Commerce will be composed of an equal number of directors from each of the bureaus, and three members from the Membership Council, a department which will be explained farther on. This plan of electing directors insures a well balanced directorate interested in every phase of civic and commercial organization work and will guarantee the support of the entire membership in all lines of general interest.

When the bureaus have been formed, the members in each will nominate double the number of directors to be elected from each bureau and the entire membership will vote to elect one-half of the number nominated. One of the directors from each bureau will be chosen to act as chairman of the bureau. In the directorate, therefore, will be the chairman of each of the bureaus and the chairman of the Membership Council.

Activities of the Bureaus

In the by-laws to be adopted the functions and activities of each bureau will be definitely outlined. It is not the intention to specify the activities of the bureaus in this statement, but simply to make a general statement concerning the general work of each. Each bureau will have the power of initiating measures for the good of the community and the activities of each will only be limited by the industry of the members, the general secretary and the officers.

Mercantile Bureau

The Mercantile Bureau will take over the functions of the present Newark Merchants Association. It will continue the credit rating service and will have charge of all activities concerning trade extension, trade protection, censorship of solicitation, and other activities relating to the welfare of merchants.

Civic Bureau

The Committee believes that there is a great field of work to be done by an aggressive Civic Bureau in making this community a more desirable place in which to live. Statistics of commercial organizations throughout the country show that 60 per cent of their activities are along civic lines. In every field of civic work organized citizenship is needed. Civic work does not mean the expenditure of money in costly improvements; it simply means a non-partisan co-operation to bring about governmental efficiency, and the maximum results in public work for the money spent; it means community cleanliness, health, recreation, welfare and beauty.

Newark must not only look to today, but to the Newark of 40,000, 50,000, or even 75,000 people. Chicago is planning its subways and other public improvements for a city of 20,000,000. New York is looking ahead fifty years in its public work. Newark must employ the same foresight and vision.

Industrial Bureau

Promotion of the industrial growth of a community is one of the activities of the Chamber of Commerce that yields large direct returns. Every existing industry enlarged and every new industry secured means increased payrolls, more homes and families, and consequently an additional circulation of money throughout the community. In the comprehensive plans for the Chamber of Commerce it is designed to give much attention to fostering established industries and of securing new industries.

In order that Newark may be placed upon a selling basis a comprehensive industrial survey will be made, showing the potential advantage of the city as a place for profitable manufacturing. With a permanent and adequate fund Newark can bring about a great industrial expansion.

Publicity and Convention Bureau

Publicity is today one of the strongest constructive factors in the world of human endeavor. Without it business wanes and men sink into oblivion. What applies to individuals and business, applies to cities. As an aid to the business of getting new industries, securing conventions and bringing new residents, the publicity department is positively essential.

The experience of the past has shown that Newark can be made a recognized convention city and that thousands of dollars of new capital can be brought to the city annually through convention delegates. In the past Newark has not been able to make a continuous and determined campaign for conventions. There has never been a group of men working continuously on that problem, and there has been no fund for the work. Even after conventions were secured those who brought them here found it necessary to raise the money themselves to entertain them.

This bureau will have a definite fund set aside for securing and entertaining conventions, and for the first time Newark can make a business of securing conventions.

Agricultural Bureau

It has become axiomatic that the growth of a city is in direct proportion to the growth in population and resources to the territory contributory to it. Newark is surrounded by a rich farming territory, and it still has vast possibilities for development.

The business of marketing the surplus products of the farms is in many cases still in its infancy, and this bureau will work to the end of making the city the market clearing house for this great and yet more promising region. Better facilities for marketing home grown products are needed. In many ways the business man through his knowledge of marketing can help the farmer.

This is not going to be a bureau to tell the farmer how to farm, but a bureau where both the farmer and the business man can work out the problems that will be for the material welfare of each. That this is practical has been demonstrated in many progressive commercial organizations, and an investigation of such methods will be one of the first activities of this bureau.

Farmers will be solicited to join the Chamber of Commerce so that they can belong to this bureau, and it is the hope of the committee that they will have representation on the board of directors.

Traffic Bureau

Following the election of the Board of Directors members of this committee will ask the Board to investigate the need in Newark of a modern Traffic Bureau. Such bureaus are now a part of many commercial organizations, and render great service to manufacturers, jobbers, and other large shippers. A Traffic Bureau works in co-operation with railroads and pays its own way by collecting a percentage on all overcharges collected from railroads. The functions of a Traffic Bureau are: Handling complaints, freight classifications, auditing freight bills, claim adjustments, car service matters, switching problems, express service, rate discrimination, etc.

The existence of this bureau will be helpful in locating new factories in Newark.

Membership Council

An expert analysis of commercial organization work in Newark in recent years reveals a lack of co-operation on the part of many citizens in giving their personal service. To remedy this and to have an organization where the membership will be interested and active continuously, the Bureau plan of organization was adopted, and to further strengthen the organization in this respect, there will be a Membership Council. This is an initiative and referendum body of about fifty representatives from the various lines of trade, industry and profession represented in the general membership. Each group, such as the lawyers, clothiers, doctors, grocers, etc., will be represented in the Membership Council by a delegate. The council will meet regularly once a week or twice a month, but all members of the Chamber may attend the meetings, but only delegates may vote. The powers of the Membership Council will be limited to deliberation and recommendation, execution being left to the bureaus, or to the governing board.

Conclusion

The Committee calls upon the citizens of Newark to rally to this movement just as they would if a crisis confronted the city, and every man was asked to do his full duty. To raise a sufficient fund to carry on this comprehensive plan of work under the direction of a trained secretary, a considerable fund is needed, and to secure this fund, individuals and corporations must take memberships in proportion to their ability to do so.

Your $25, or $50, or $100 a year won't in itself do much to build up the city, but combine these sums from five hundred men, every cent of which is to be spent for the general welfare, and your investment will pay larger returns than any other way.

In conclusion, the committee appeals to the citizens of Newark to rally to this forward movement, behold the vision of the city that can be built, work with one purpose, and develop a community spirit here that will make it the pride of every man, woman and child to say to the world, "I am a citizen of Newark."

GLASS OF SALTS
CLEANS KIDNEYS

If your back is aching or bladder bothers, drink lots of water and eat less meat.

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore, don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys and irritate the entire urinary tract. Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean, by flushing them with a mild, harmless salts which removes the body's urinous waste and stimulates them to their normal activity. The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In 24 hours they strain from it 500 gallons of acid and waste, so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active.

Drink lots of water—you can't drink too much; also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys will get fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep their kidneys clean and active. Try this, also keep up the water drinking, and no doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and backache.

O'TOOLE HURT BY A PITCHED BALL SUNDAY

Marty O'Toole, Columbus pitcher, the man who figured in the $22,500 deal between Pittsburgh and St. Paul several years ago, was injured Sunday afternoon in the game between the Columbus Colts and the Pittsburgh Pirates at the Municipal City League at Wehrle Park. A ball thrown by Pitcher Nichols struck O'Toole on the left elbow, inflicting such pain that O'Toole was immediately and nearly fainted. After being given first aid, he was assisted to the player's bench where he sat for some time. He was then taken to the hospital and his condition was reported as serious. He is expected to be out of the game for some time.

The contest resulted in an easy victory for Columbus by a score of 11 to 0. A new tally in the eighth inning saved the Newark boys from a shutout. O'Toole pitched a scoreless first, second and third, but in the fourth he was hit by a single and a double. In the fifth he was hit by a single and a double. In the sixth he was hit by a single and a double. In the seventh he was hit by a single and a double. In the eighth he was hit by a single and a double. In the ninth he was hit by a single and a double.

TOLEDO JOYFUL OVER RETURN TO AMERICAN ASSOCIATION
(Associated Press Telegram)

Toledo, April 16.—The return of the Toledo team to the American Association here tonight in honor of the opening of the season. The team, which had been in the National League, was welcomed by a large crowd of fans. The team's manager, John J. McGraw, said that the team was in good shape and was ready to compete for the championship. The team's first game was against the Cincinnati Reds, which they won by a score of 10 to 0.

NUTTER AND BROWN
Brown and Nutter, both players on the Pittsburgh Pirates, were injured in a game with the Columbus Colts. Brown was hit by a ball on the head and Nutter was hit by a ball on the arm. Both players are expected to be out of the game for some time.

TOLEDO SIGNS PERRING.
Toledo, April 17.—Third baseman Perrine (Toledo) has signed a contract with the American Association. Perrine arrived here from Columbus Saturday and practiced with the team. He is expected to be in the lineup for the team's first game.

LADIES! DARKEN YOUR GRAY HAIR

Look years younger! Use Grandmother's recipe of Sage Tea and Sulphur and nobody will know.

The use of Sage and Sulphur for restoring faded, gray hair to its natural color dates back to grandmother's time. She used it to keep her hair beautifully dark, glossy, and attractive. Whenever her hair took on that dull, lead or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect.

But brewing at home is messy and out-of-date. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for a 50-cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get this famous old preparation, improved by the addition of other ingredients, which can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two it becomes beautifully dark and glossy.

Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is a delightful toilet requisite for those who desire a more youthful appearance. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

The Great American Smoke—"Bull" Durham

Fail in line with hundreds of thousands of red-blooded smokers of the good old U. S. A. Smoke the cigarette tobacco that's been an American institution for three generations—"Bull" Durham. The rich, relishy, star-spangled taste of "Bull" puts the national spirit of get-up-and-hustle into your hand-rolled cigarette. "Bull" is the freshest, snappiest, liveliest of smokes.

GENUINE "BULL" DURHAM SMOKING TOBACCO

"Roll your own" with "Bull" Durham and you'll find far greater satisfaction in your cigarette than you ever did before. Made of the richest, mildest leaf grown. "Bull" has a delightful mellow-sweet flavor found in no other tobacco. And its aromatic fragrance is supremely unique. Men who never smoked cigarettes before are now "rolling their own" with "Bull" Durham.

FREE An illustrated booklet, showing the correct way to "Roll Your Own" Cigarettes, and a package of cigarette papers, will both be mailed, free, to any address in U. S. on request. Address "Bull" Durham, Durham, N. C.

ACT OF CHEWING RELIEVES WORRY

SCIENTIFIC REASONS WHY.

In a remarkable analysis of gum chewing Dr. Anna Dwyer, chief physician of the Morris Court of Chicago states in a recent issue of the Chicago Herald that it is a physical impossibility for worry and depression to come upon an individual who is using chewing gum.

"The brain centers," says Dr. Dwyer, "are so situated that when the act of mastication is begun all sense of depression and of melancholia leaves the mind. From a purely mechanical standpoint worry is impossible while the jaws are moving rapidly. When an individual chews gum, he or more frequently she, has no concern or worry for the world."

I prescribe chewing gum to those of my patients who are habitually depressed. I advocate it on account of the undoubted benefits it brings to those who are threatened with nervous troubles.

Where Joy and Sorrow Live.
"The reason for this is very obvious when you analyze the brain and its contributing blood and nervous systems. At the base of the brain is the medulla oblongata, a spinal connecting link between the centers of depression, joy, mastication and digestion. When any one of these centers receives a stimulus from the upper brain it becomes excited and sends out a message to the blood supply. There is immediate response and blood rushes to the excited center, leaving the surrounding centers slothful and inactive. The stimulus of one center temporarily strands the other."

This is the situation when chewing prevents worry. A suggestion comes to the center of mastication and it relays the message. The blood flows to meet the demand of the rapidly moving jaws and the nearby center of depression becomes inactive. As soon as the act of chewing is well under way the feeling of sadness leaves. The downcast countenance clears and content comes upon the individual. He is said to "get his mind off his troubles."

"It relieves the situation automatically and invariably. To those who cannot sleep at night from some worry I urge the chewing of gum. I have known it to stop insomnia if followed diligently."

PRINCETON CREWS PREPARE FOR RACE
Princeton, N. J., April 17.—Harvard's varsity and junior varsity crews which arrived here last night, began preparation today for the race with Princeton on Lake Carnegie, next Thursday afternoon. It will be the first race of the intercollegiate rowing season and will be over the mile and seven eighths course.

SYNOPSIS.

Mary Page, actress, is accused of the murder of James Pollock and is defended by her lover, Philip Langdon. Pollock was intoxicated. At Mary's trial she admits she had the revolver. Her maid testifies that Mary threatened Pollock with it previously, and Mary's leading man implicates Langdon. How Mary disappeared from the scene of the crime is a mystery. Brandon tells of a strange hand print he saw on Mary's shoulder. Further evidence shows that horror of drink produces temporary insanity in Mary. The defense is "repressed psychosis." Witnesses described Mary's flight from her intoxicated father and her father's suicide. Nurse Walton describes the kidnapping of Mary by Pollock, and Amy Barton tells of Mary's struggles to become an actress and of Pollock's pursuit of her.

AMY'S STELLAR ROLE

NATURE had intended Amy Barton to be a great actress. Emotional roles of any sort would have sat absurdly upon her slender shoulders, but in the part of the insouciant ingenue she never failed to score.

She was the quaint blending which modern life has evolved, of an old-fashioned small town upbringing, veneered with a bright crust of bravado born of battling for her living in a city brimming with temptations, but she had never lost her gay defiance nor had she lost the cornerstone of her simple creed, "Be decent, loyal to your friends and don't go around with a grouch."

Her gaiety was infectious, and as she tripped up the two steps to the witness-chair she nodded a familiar greeting to the judge and smiled at the jury.

"Miss Barton," said Langdon, "you have told us of the experience with Mr. Pollock that led to your sudden resignation from 'The Blue Feather' company. Did you see him at any time after that?"

"See him again?" she retorted. "Why, that man was a regular epidemic!" A delighted giggle greeted the words, emanating from the jury-box itself. "We bumped into him the day we landed our first real job for the road.

"We were on our way to the Prentiss Agency. We'd been there before and they'd handed us the 'call again' sign, so we were playing a return date though we hadn't much hopes. Old Miss Prentiss is such a sour old maid she'd never hand anybody a job if she could get her commissions any other way, but she has the inside with some of the good managers and you can't overlook any bets in the show business. So we went back, and while we were going down the hall Mary looked so blue that I had to play Little Sunshine with much business of 'I've-a-hunch-that-we'll-land-today'-to try and make her smile and look pretty for any possible manager. That's why we didn't see James Pollock till we fairly bumped into him, and he made a grab for Mary's hand.

"Then he began to spill out an apology. He said he'd been searching every theatrical agency and every theatre in town looking for Mary. 'I've been wretched, Mary,' he said. 'I think I must have been crazy that night at the 'Blue Feather.' I was jealous and angry and hurt besides, and I lost my head. Won't you forgive me? I'm not going to bother you any more,

"Your honor and gentlemen of the jury."

but I can't live without your forgiveness. By that time Mary had got the power of speech back and she jerked her hand away from his as if it burnt. 'I am perfectly willing to forgive you,' she said, 'and accept your apology, but I do not care to continue any acquaintance with you.'"

"Did you and Miss Page secure positions in that new company?"

"Yes. The minute the manager spotted Mary, he picked her for the lead because she was the proper 'type,' and Mary, the darling, said she couldn't take the job unless I went along too. So he handed me an ingenue role with about ten sides and twenty-five beans as salary. Mary's was to be featured in the play which had the giddy moniker of 'A Woman's Pledge.'"

"May it please the court," broke in the prosecutor, getting lazily to his feet, "all this is no doubt very interesting—delightful, in fact, and might prove of great help to us if we had stage aspirants. But," (with a sudden change of tone) "we are here to decide the guilt or innocence of Mary Page, whom the State declares to have murdered James Pollock. I fail to see, your Honor, where the somewhat rambling fable in slang which the witness is telling has any bearing upon this case."

"Your Honor, and gentlemen of the jury," Langdon's voice rose before the words of the prosecutor had died away. "The story which the witness is telling has everything to do with the question of the murder of James Pollock. It will show how again and again he forced his attentions upon Miss Page, and of the horror in which she held him; and of the almost inevitable mental collapse that followed his brutal efforts to make her marry him. If I have allowed the witness to tell the story in her own way, it is simply that I wish to bring before you the picture of these two young girls, so brave and hopeful, and hard working, whose positions and good character were attacked by James Pollock."

For a moment the judge hesitated, and the court held its breath—aggressive, even antagonistic at the mere thought of losing the gay little witness who was looking from the judge to Langdon with such childishly startled eyes. Then his Honor said slowly:

"I cannot sustain your objection to the testimony as irrelevant, sir. I consider all that has a bearing upon the curious relations existing between Mr. Pollock and Miss Page as of paramount importance. At the same time," he added, turning to Langdon, "I would suggest that you instruct your witness to confine her testimony to mere statements of fact."

The entire courtroom, not excepting the jury, heaved a sigh of relief, and Langdon's face showed a flush of triumph as he asked:

"How long did your engagement in 'A Woman's Pledge' last, Miss Barton?"

"Six weeks, but we only got salary for four."

"Where did the tour end?"

"It didn't end. It blew up in a one-tank rube town called Prindleville. It was one of those towns that have the railroad station on one side of Main Street, the hotel and 'Opry' house at the other and the rest of the buildings scattered about wherever they happened to drop."

Again a gust of laughter lifted through the dingy room, but Langdon frowned and shook his head at Amy.

"Never mind descriptions," he said more sharply than he had spoken so far. Amy, far from being awed by his sternness, pouted at him with a gay little moue and went on with her story in her own fashion.

"We were all feeling pretty grouchy when we hit Prindleville, because the ghost hadn't walked for a month, and nobody knew whether we'd ever get back to New York or not."

"Did you give the performance that night?" broke in Langdon impatiently.

"Well, we started to, but it never got beyond the ticket-taking stage, for the sheriff blew in with a badge as big as a saucer and said that he'd been ordered to hold all our trunks and props for unpaid board bills in the last four towns, and that meant that we were stranded with Broadway doing the Sheridan act many miles away. We went back to the hotel and said what we thought of the producer and tried to borrow carfare from the hotel proprietor. That was when we saw James Pollock again. He arrived in town by the last train, and walked into the lobby while we were there. He came over and said he was going through the town on a business trip, and I seeing Mary's name on an eight-sheet—

"No. She refused absolutely. She looked as if she would scream if he touched her. She held onto my arm so tight it made a black-and-blue spot, and you could see the pulse in her throat jumping the way it does before a woman dissolves into hysterics. The proprietor of the place was a decent old rube with a fatherly eye and soft heart that wore the make-up of a grouch, and when Mary offered him a ring that had been her mother's, as a pledge for our board, he kind of gulped and handed over the key to our room without a word."

"You say 'our room.' That means that you remained with Miss Page?"

"Why, of course," she said in obvious surprise. "You don't suppose I'd go back on Mary, do you? We went upstairs and had a little cry," she said whimsically, a furtive dimple showing as she spoke. "Then, having powdered our noses and cheered up, I left Mary resting while I went to the head of the stairs to see what was doing in the office, and what had happened to the rest of the bunch."

"Could you see those in the office from the stairway?"

"Plainly, by going down to the first landing and looking through the banisters."

"Was the rest of the company still there?"

"Yes."

"Was Mr. Pollock with them?"

"Yes; he was playing a leading role and making a speech."

"Could you hear what he said?"

"Sure! Of course I missed the first part of it, but when I got to the landing he was saying, 'I have always taken a great interest in the theatre, and can thoroughly sympathize with your predicament.' Then he pulled a timetable out of his pocket and tapped it, saying, 'The New York train goes through in six minutes. It can be flagged to take you aboard and I'll pay your fares to New York and settle the claims of the sheriff—for no reason except that I don't want to see you stranded.' At that the company set up a cheer and beat it like crazy people for their suitcases, and Mr. Pollock pulled out a great wad of bills and began peeling them off for everybody, including the sheriff himself."

"What did you do then?"

"I ran back and told Mary, but we could see through his game. It was a case of either accept his help or be stranded and walk the ties."

"What did Miss Page say?"

"She said, 'You go, Amy, because you want to get back, but I'll walk every step of the way and earn my food by scrubbing before I'll accept a penny of James Pollock's money or give him a chance to speak to me again.'"

"Did you agree to go?"

"No. I said that burrs weren't in it with me when it came to stickin', and if there was going to be any walking or scrubbing I would be on the job to do my share. That Mary and I were pals—and we'd take what was coming together. Well, anybody would have stuck by Mary. She—she's the best ever."

"Did Mr. Pollock leave with the company?" asked Langdon, a warning note in his voice, and with a little start she turned back to him.

"No. We thought he had gone, but after the train had pulled out I looked out of the window and saw him coming back to the hotel—grinning."

"Did you tell Miss Page?"

"No. I thought it was better for her to think he was gone, so that she would get a good night's sleep. Afterward I wished I had told her."

"Why?"

"Because it was such an awful shock to her when he came to our door in the morning."

"Will you tell us the circumstances of that meeting, please?"

"Well, Mary and I were both dressed and ready for breakfast, and we were talking over the chances of getting some sort of work to do in the town till we could get word home to mother to send us car fare. It costs quite a lot from Prindleville to the big town, and we knew it might be days before the old lady could raise it, and we had to cut in the meantime. While we were still talking we heard a knock at the door, and thinking it was the chambermaid or maybe the proprietor Mary

"She looked as if she would scream if he touched her."

stung out, 'Come in.' And at that James Pollock opened the door."

"What did Miss Page do?"

"She screamed and turning, hid her face against my shoulder for a moment. Then she stood up and faced him. 'How dare you come here?' she asked, and he had the decency to look pretty foolish. 'I dare because I am worried about you,' he said. 'I can't go and leave you stranded here; you've got to let me help you.' 'I shall never accept your help!' cried Mary, and I could tell by her voice that she was pretty close to tears, so I stepped forward and said, 'Look here, James Pollock, it's a pretty mean trick for any man to persecute a girl, the way you're persecuting Mary. Haven't you a shred of decency in your poor little soul? If you have you'll beat it—while the going's good.'"

"Did he answer you?"

"Yes. For a minute I thought he was going to hit me. Then he said, 'Miss Page is thoroughly capable of answering me herself, Miss Barton, and I must ask you not to interfere in what does not concern you.' 'Anything that concerns Mary concerns me,' I retorted, but Mary put her hand on my arm. 'Mr. Pollock,' she said, and there was a queer note in her voice, 'I thoroughly agree with what Amy has said—you are persecuting me; you are torturing me—and I cannot bear any more. For God's sake go away and leave us in peace.' At that Mr. Pollock flung out his hands and said hoarsely, 'Mary—Mary—you can't mean that. Aren't you tired of this poverty and misery? Haven't you had enough of this life? One would think to hear you that I was some brute pursuing you, when all I ask is to honorably marry you and protect you from hardships.' 'Honorable!' cried Mary. 'Do you call it honorable to assist the others because you knew it would leave us stranded and helpless? Is it honorable to force yourself upon us in this fashion? Is it honorable to persecute me, when I've told you over and over that I'll drudge all my life and wear my fingers to the bone with work before I will marry you? Then she burst into tears, and I ordered Mr. Pollock out of the room, saying that he'd gotten his answer and he might as well go."

"Did he leave?"

"No—but it didn't matter, because just then the door opened and the good old gink that ran the place came in. He said he'd heard enough of what was said to realize that we girls needed some help and advice, and suggested that since Mr. Pollock seemed determined to stay there, that we might go down to his office. He handed us each a job as biscuit-slingers in the dining-room. Mary was to administer the table d'hôte to the regular and I was to be on the job with the transients—and SOME transients they were, too! Of course Mary made a hit right off."

"It's a good thing, your Honor, that they don't leave any cold poison lying around in rube hotels, because the first customer I got was James Pollock! I did stick my finger in the oatmeal I was taking him and say, 'I hope you choke' three times, but it didn't work."

Again her bubbling laugh rippled out, followed by a guffaw of delight from the listeners, but as if it were a signal, the prosecutor leaped to his feet.

"Your Honor," he stormed, "I object to the testimony of this witness being admitted as evidence! Is this a courtroom or a burlesque show? And is my learned opponent revealing to us the gay life of Miss Barton or evidence dealing with the murder of James Pollock?"

"May it please the court," retorted Langdon, "the events which took place in Prindleville had a very definite effect upon the relations between James Pollock and the defendant. I crave the patience of your Honor and the gentleman of the jury with the witness—who is—er—not exactly conversant with the legal brevity demanded by law."

"I think," said his Honor, the ghost of a smile still twitching at his lips, "that the witness may go on with her story. But," he added, leaning forward with an admonishing gesture towards Amy, "you must remember, Miss Barton, that you are here not to amuse us, but to answer as briefly as possible the questions put to you by counsel for the defence."

"How long did you remain at the hotel in Prindleville as a waitress?"

"About three weeks."

"Did Mr. Pollock remain there during that time?"

"Yes."

"Did he speak to you at any time?"

"Well, he had to speak to me, but he limited it to, 'Two boiled eggs and dry toast,' or 'Gimme roast chicken and mashed potatoes,' but with Mary it was different. He didn't speak to her, but he never let her get out of his sight, if he could avoid it. He used to sit in the hall where he could watch her in the dining-room, and if she went out for a breath of air, he always followed her. It got on her nerves so she used to cry half the night, and say she would go crazy if he didn't go away."

"Miss Barton, you say that you remained at the hotel about three weeks. Why did you leave at the end of that time?"

"Because of the behavior of some of the men who came to the place."

"What do you mean by their behavior?"

"Their—their—freshness," she said, flushing a little. "You see, when we first went to work, they were all very decent, especially to Mary, and everything was fine. Then they—they seemed to change even to me. Finally something the landlady said put me wise to the fact that our characters weren't worth a two-cent stamp in Prindleville. I didn't want Mary to know, so I kept quiet till the day when the guy that always came for lunch got fresh and tried to kiss her. The landlady had just told me that her 'regular' girls were objecting to work with us, because of our bad characters, when the door of the dining-room banged open and Mary, taking her apron off as she went, ran past us and up the stairs. The landlady called her, but she never even looked around, so I started after her. Just as I did so a cheap, flashy guy who was a regular boarder came out of the dining-room, looking sheepish and with one cheek bright red and the other very pale. I've seen a good smack make that kind of a complexion before, so I kind of waited around to see what he would do."

"Did he leave the hotel?"

"No. He walked out into the office and across to where James Pollock was sitting and flung himself into a chair beside him. He ripped out a good round oath or two; then he said, 'Say, look here, from what you told me, that Mary Page is no better than she should be, but crickey, she swung a right one on my jaw that jarred my brains in there, just because I tried to give her a little kiss—and offered to take her to the movies.'"

"Did Mr. Pollock reply?"

"No. First he looked as if he was going to hand the chump one himself, then he laughed as if he was satisfied with something, and I ran up stairs to Mary. She was crying, and packing her grip. She said that for the last two or three days she had noticed a decided difference in the attitude of the men towards her, and that at noon one of them had insulted her and she had slapped his face. The worst of it was, she said, the man said that he had been told that she wasn't so particular with others, and was notorious where she came from. When we went downstairs with our suitcases in our hands the proprietor's wife was giving him an earful of what she had heard about us, of how bad we were and all the rest, and Mr. Pollock was sitting there taking it all in, but pretending to read. He jumped up when we came in sight, however, and started to speak, but we pushed by him and I walked right up to the proprietor and said, 'Look here—you've been pretty white to us, but somebody is spreading a lot of lies around here, and we're going to quit P. D. Q., and we'd like whatever of the long green is coming to us after our room rent is paid.' The old guy, seeing Mr. Pollock was listening, said we'd better all go into the dining-room to settle it; but Mr. Pollock followed us in, and said that as he was a friend of ours, that he had heard that there were a good many rumors about Mary's past, and that of course no actress could expect to have any reputation, as everybody knew what road companies were. Then he grabbed Mary's hands, saying, 'I at least care nothing about gossip. Knowing Miss Page, I have repeatedly offered to marry her and now—now I ask again, Mary, you can kill this slander in a minute by marrying me!' That wisest me to his game all right, but before I could tell her, she had dragged her hands away from him with a scream and backed against the wall, staring at us as if—as if—she was crazy. I called out to 'Mary! Mary!' but she didn't seem to hear me. She just kept staring at Mr. Pollock."

"Was he much excited?" snapped Langdon.

"Yes, but he was half drunk, too. He'd been drinking a lot all day, and it showed plainly on him. It was that, I guess, that made him act like a fool and try to catch her in his arms, crying that there was nothing ahead of her but disgrace and disaster unless she married him."

"Did she reply?"

"No—she didn't answer. She struck at him—twice—then she screamed and ran out—and across the street to the railroad. We—we followed as quickly as we could, and then—she choked, and her hand went waveringly to her throat, as if the words would not come—and then we saw the man waving his flag and knew the train from New York was coming in. I think I went crazy myself for a minute. I screamed and screamed and we ran like mad—but we couldn't catch her—only—thank God—the man with the danger flag saw her and stopped her just in time!"

"Did she fight against capture?"

"No. She just fainted dead off in his arms, and when we got to her, he had carried her over and laid her on the platform. It was then that I saw Mr. Langdon. He had just gotten off the train, and when he saw the crowd and Mary lying there, he turned white as a sheet and came running over. But I told him that she had only fainted and he'd better carry her over to the hotel."

"Was Miss Page conscious when you reached the hotel?"

"No. But after she had been laid on the sofa in the parlor and the landlady had bathed her forehead a while she opened her eyes and smiled at us, and the old woman, who was a good soul at heart, drove us all out, saying that Mary needed rest."

"Was Mr. Pollock in the hotel at that time?"

"Yes. He was at the parlor door, but when we came out he kind of edged away and stood scowling at us. Then I told Mr. Langdon that I believed he had been spreading slander against Mary all through the town and had driven her half insane so that she had attempted to end it all by flinging herself in front of the train. Mr. Langdon started to tell me something then, but before he could get a word out, the landlady came to the parlor door and said Mary wanted me. Mr. Langdon went in with me. When Mary saw him, she just gave one cry, and came running to him, like a kid that's been scared with a lamp. But when she saw Mr. Pollock pushing his way in with some of the others, she turned kind of white again, and Mr. Langdon, turning to see what had startled her, got a glimpse of him. At that he suddenly pulled a bunch of papers out of his pocket, and marching up to Mr. Pollock said, loud enough for all of us to hear: 'Through certain investigations which I made in New York, James Pollock, I have discovered that you are the biggest scoundrel unbung! I have actual proof that you backed 'A Woman's Pledge' Company, and allowed it to strand in order to leave Mary Page penniless and alone in a strange town; and what is more, curse you, I believe you yourself spread the lies that have been told about her!'"

"Did Mr. Pollock deny these accusations?"

"He started to, but apparently changed his mind and didn't say a word. But the good old Rube proprietor did. He jumped up and shook his fist under Mr. Pollock's nose and shouted, 'You scoundrel! I've had my doubts about you for some time. Now I know—and you get out of my hotel—and get quick! This town is no place for hounds that persecute women and slander 'em, and if you don't want some rough handling you'd better get away before word of this dirty work gets around.' At that Mr. Pollock turns about like a dog that's had a licking and slunk out and Mr. Langdon laughed and said, 'There's a train home in twenty minutes, and we're going to catch it.'"

"That is all, Miss Barton," said Langdon, but his tone was thoughtful, and when the prosecutor waived cross examination, and the judge adjourned court, he showed obvious relief. He followed Amy into the witness room, drew her aside and asked:

"Amy, have you seen anything of Daniels lately?"

"Why, sure," she answered. "I saw him yesterday, and, say, he looks about the sickest thing I ever saw in the show business. Honest, I felt sorry for him."

"Well, you may feel even more sorry for him, before long," muttered Langdon, and hurrying out through the now gloomy corridors he passed through the clanging door and down into the cells. At a word to the turnkey he was admitted to the narrow room where Mary lay flung across the narrow bed. Stooping over her he whispered softly: "Mary—my dear—"

"Oh, Philip," she sobbed, turning and clinging to him. "It—it's like living all the horrors over again to go through this day by day. Is it worth while? Will it help any?"

"Help? Why, dear, I'm more hopeful tonight than I've been since the beginning," he cried cheerily. "And what's more, I believe I've got a line on a new clue—that will work up well."

"Oh, what?" she cried, sitting up and smiling at him rainbow-wise through the tears that begemmed her lashes; and Langdon, holding her hands against his lips, said softly:

"Dearest, you know that long after he deliberately planned to strand you, Pollock also backed Daniels to star you. I'm going to summon Daniels and make him explain their exact association, and then I think—the end will be in sight. Just be brave a little longer—and trust me."

"Oh, I do—I do," she whispered; and when he left her she followed him to the door and, thrusting her slender hands between the bars, caught his and said in a voice that thrilled with sweetness:

"Philip, dear—I am hopeful—and I am brave—don't forget that—and please go home tonight—remembering that I was smiling when I said goodbye."

But Philip, burying his face in the slender palms, could not see the bravely sweet smile because of the scolding tears that burned his eyelids, as he hurried down the echoing corridor.

Has Faith in Remedy

Mrs. H. S. Carlson of Wakefield, Nebr., testifies to the relief she experienced from the use of Fruitola and Traxo:

"I used Fruitola and Traxo with very good results, having passed almost a cupful of gall-stones with the first bottle. My skin is clear now and I have a good appetite. I have lots of faith in Fruitola and Traxo."

Fruitola is a powerful lubricant for the intestinal organs, softening the hardened particles that cause so much suffering and expelling the congested waste in a easy, natural manner. A single dose is usually sufficient to clearly indicate its efficiency. Traxo is a splendid tonic-alterative that acts on the liver and kidneys, stimulates the flow of gastric juices to aid digestion and removes bile from the general circulation.

For the convenience of the public, arrangements have been made to supply Fruitola and Traxo through representative druggists. In Newark they can be obtained at Evans' Drug Store, Warden Hotel Block.

FATAL INJURIES TO FORMER NEWARK MAN; KILLED BY A TRAIN

Word has been received here of the death of Edward W. Mundy, formerly of Newark, who died at Brunswick, Md., on Saturday morning, April 8, as the result of injuries received, when he was run over by a train on Friday.

Mr. Mundy, a glassworker, has been living in Cumberland, Md., and when he attempted to board a freight train at Weverton, Md., Friday afternoon, he was thrown under the wheels and received injuries which resulted in his death. He was returning home after a three months absence in the east. Being without funds he was persuaded by several companions to hop a freight with them and ride home. It was his first attempt to board a moving train and being encumbered by a suit case he lost hold. The left leg was cut off above the ankle and three fingers of his left hand were severed.

It is companions knew of his plight they gave no alarm and he was not picked up until some time later by railroad employees who rushed him to the Emergency hospital, at Brunswick.

The body was taken to Cumberland, where funeral services were held.

At the hospital Mr. Mundy told of the accident. He said he had been working in a glass factory at Brooklyn, but decided to return home when the work got slack. While in New York a brother died and he was obliged to bear the funeral expenses, which exhausted his finances. Mrs. Mundy was formerly Miss Barbara E. Hodel of Cumberland.

The deceased was a Newark man, and for a number of years was employed by the A. H. Heisey company as a finisher.

Theatres

Alhambra Tonight and Tomorrow. A thrilling story of a struggle for political freedom in Russia is the Jesse L. Lasky production of "The Sowers," which will be seen at Alhambra on Monday and Tuesday, with the photodramatic favorite, Blanche Sweet, in the stellar role. This intense play is founded on Henry Seton Merriman's novel of the same name, and has to do with the efforts of a prominent Russian prince to free the peasants from the bonds of slavery. How the Secret Police are prevented from discovering the plot by a beautiful member of the royal household, in love with the prince, is graphically depicted.

The Gem Thursday. Cyril Scott, the noted Broadway star will be featured in a five reel Red Feather photoplay at the Gem theatre next Thursday. Mr. Scott adopted the stage as a profession when he was seventeen, for some time was a member of the Munnix Madden Fiske company. For three

How Physiologists Regard Coffee

In a recent article, Dr. W. A. Evans, editor of the "How to Keep Well" column of the Chicago Tribune, says:

"In order that no misunderstanding may arise, I should say that physiologists regard Coffee, Tea, Tobacco and Whiskey as drugs in the same sense as Opium and Cocaine are. From coffee at one end of the line to cocaine at the other, no pot has the right to call the kettle black."

The average cup of coffee contains about 2½ grains of caffeine, a habit-forming drug—not enough in one cup to seriously harm. But, when used regularly, it is for many the cause of sleeplessness, nervousness, heart trouble, mental and physical fatigue, and a host of other complaints.

on the other hand, is a pure food-drink made of roasted wheat and a little molasses. It tastes much like coffee, but contains no caffeine nor other injurious drug.

Postum comes in two forms: The original Postum Cereal, which must be boiled; 15c and 25c packages; and Instant Postum, a soluble form that produces the beverage instantly—a level teaspoonful to a cup of hot water; 30c and 50c tins. Both forms are equally delicious, and the cost is about the same—one-half cent per cup.

Even a ten-day trial will place the average person far enough away from coffee troubles to prove

OF THE AMERICAN REVOLUTION OPEN CONGRESS AT WASHINGTON TODAY.

President Wilson Delivers Address of Welcome—National Preparedness Will be Discussed.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM) Washington, April 17.—Delegates from throughout the country were in attendance at the opening session here today of the twenty-fifth continental congress of the Daughters of the American Revolution. Activities of the congress will take up the entire week.

Addresses of welcome by President Wilson and Mrs. William Cumming Story of New York, president general, were the outstanding events on today's program. Other speakers included Mrs. John Hayes Hammond, Newell B. Woodworth, president general of the National Society Sons of the American Revolution, and W. I. Lincoln Adams, president of the New Jersey Society S. A. R.

A feature of the congress will be a discussion of national preparedness, Wednesday evening, having been set apart for the purpose. The subject will be discussed by Hudson Maxim and other noted authorities. Although no high officers of the society are to be elected at this year's session, a contest is said to be developing for the position of corresponding secretary general. The vice presidents general and one temporary vice president general are also to be elected. The election will be held tomorrow.

Among the various social functions arranged for the delegates is a reception by President and Mrs. Wilson Thursday afternoon at the White House.

HOLLISTER SLATED FOR PENCE'S PLACE

W. R. Hollister.

W. R. Hollister, of Jefferson City, Mo., clerk to the senate committee on foreign relations, of which Senator Stone is chairman, has been acting secretary of the Democratic national committee since the death of Thomas J. Pence. He was appointed assistant to Mr. Pence and handled the office under Mr. Pence's direction for some time before the latter's death.

TIRED LOOKING WOMEN

Some women always wear a worn, tired look. It is the outward sign of nervousness, neurasthenia perhaps, with its characteristic symptoms of worry, headaches and sleeplessness.

Overwork, grief, undue excitement, the late hours and nervous strain of a strenuous social season, lack of outdoor exercise, any or all of these may be responsible for the trouble but the most common cause at this season of the year is the grip.

Whatever the cause, if you feel the need of more strength try the great non-alcoholic tonic, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. As the nerves get their nourishment from the blood the treatment must be directed toward building up the blood. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills act directly on the blood and with proper regulation of the diet have proved of the greatest benefit in many cases of neurasthenia. A tendency to anemia, or bloodlessness, shown by most neurasthenic patients, is also corrected by these tonic pills. Your own druggist sells Dr. Williams' Pink Pills or they will be sent by mail on receipt of price, 50 cents per box; six boxes $2.50.

Write for the free booklet, "Diseases of the Nervous System" and a diet book. Address: Dr. Williams' Medical Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

HARDING TO SPEAK AT RHODE ISLAND G. O. P. CONVENTION.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM) Providence, R. I., April 17.—The Republicans of Rhode Island met in state convention to select four delegates at large and four alternates to the national convention at Chicago. The convention to choose district delegates also were held during the day. Senator Warren G. Harding of Ohio, came here to address the state convention.

THE RAILROADS

The following from this month's issue of the Brotherhood's Journal, entitled "Only Our Due," presents the men's side of the wage controversy now being waged between railroad officials and its employees:

ONLY OUR DUE. (By Gus B. Ridge, Member Lodge 290) We railroaders ask for an eight-hour day. And overtime then at time-and-half pay. We think our request is a proper one.

In view of the hazardous work that we do. Suppose we are called for a regular freight train. And are ready in time but leave an hour late. Our train is composed of some eighty-five loads. Which is just a fair average for up-to-date roads.

We get out of town, a few miles at the best. Head in off the main for a train coming west. Be held on the sidetrack an hour for this train. Before she arrives and then pull out again.

Then just get our "eight-five" rolling once more. And then take the siding to clear Number Four. 'Tis thus we drag on o'er the long iron way. And keep up this dragging for hours, night and day.

Let critics who think our demands are too great. Just make a few trips on an eighty-car freight. Keep tabs on the orders—keep watch on the train. And see how the job exhausts muscle and brain.

If they knew of the hardships the firemen endure. They'd agree that the job isn't one of allure. The kind of the labor its duties demand. Is work, sir, that's harder than humans can stand.

You people who say we want more than our due. Show us coal for twelve hours, with a scoop, number two. Keep a watch out the window, your eyes on the rails. Keep your mind on your train, from headlight to tails.

Read the orders they hand you, keep the card in your head. And in eight hours' time you'll be just about dead. And convinced that we're asking no more than is right. And for something for which you'd be ready to fight.

For a shorter work-day and fair overtime pay. We are asking for what we consider our due. More power, then, we shout, to the old "Tired and True."

Town Topics Special. The Town Topics special of eight cars enroute from Columbus to Zanesville, passed through Newark Sunday noon, via the B. & O. The train consisted of eight two steel coaches, four baggage cars, one parlor car and a diner.

Factors Preparedness. That the Erie Railroad company favors preparedness is shown by a letter sent out yesterday from R. H.

Wallace, general passenger agent of the Erie lines:

"If you have any employees who are members of the National Guard it may be understood as the policy of this company to grant them leave of absence with pay when called upon for military duty, such leave of absence to be in addition to their regular vacation."

"It is suggested that the adjutant generals of various states along our line be notified and asked to notify the various heads of our state military organizations of the policy of this company."

General Manager's Special. C. W. Galloway, general manager of the B. & O. railroad company. Sunday made a trip in his special train from Wheeling to Zanesville, and from Zanesville to Parkersburg.

Orders for Steel Rails. The Pennsylvania Railroad company announced today that it had placed orders for 295,000 tons of steel rails for delivery in 1917. Of this order 125,000 tons are for the lines east of Pittsburgh and the remaining 170,000 tons for the lines west.

Passenger Traffic Heavy. W. B. Galloway, Cincinnati general passenger agent, B. & O. and C. H. & D. Lines, returned yesterday from Chicago where he attended a meeting of the Central Passenger Association. Mr. Galloway reports a wonderful increase in passenger traffic business out of Detroit, due in a measure to the boom in automobile and other industries. The greater part of this business is between Detroit and Cincinnati, and Detroit and Akron and Pittsburgh where the big industrial plants are located.

Overcharged. "Mercy!" ejaculated young Mrs. Kidder, in the midst of her reading. "Here is an account of a woman who sold her baby for fifty cents!"

"Oh, well, returned her bachelor brother, who had at sundry times cared for the children while his sister went shopping. "all kinds of swindles are being worked nowadays."—Kansas City Star.

Cigarette factories have been established in China, but the more particular smokers prefer a United States brand mark.

PREVENT SORE THROAT

Sore throats are very dangerous and lead to serious diseases. They must be prevented. The minute your throat becomes dry and irritated get a bottle of hyclorite antiseptic from your druggist. Instantly you discover that a refreshing hyclorite gargle will remove all the germs and dust that cause raw sore throats.

It is superior to any germicide or antiseptic you have ever used. Is remarkably safe, very effective, and economical. It is used by hospitals and physicians because it destroys disease germs quickly. It is the dependable antiseptic that should be in every home, always ready for instant use. General Laboratories, Madison, Wis.

Credit Standing

In a strong commercial bank is a most important asset to every farmer and every business man.

No man engaged in any commercial pursuit can foresee at what moment he may need additional money, and when he wants it, he does not wish the humiliation of borrowing from his friends. He wants to go to a bank where the lending of money is a business.

If he is acquainted in a good bank and has the reputation of being reliable and prompt, he has laid the foundation for prompt and favorable consideration of his request.

Open a checking account here now, build up a balance and a credit standing at the same time.

EVEN CROSS, SICK CHILDREN LOVE SYRUP OF FIGS

If feverish, bilious, constipated, give fruit laxative at once.

Don't scold your fretful, peevish child. See if tongue is coated; this is a sure sign its little stomach, liver and bowels are clogged with sour waste.

When listless, pale, feverish, full of cold, breath bad, throat sore, doesn't eat, sleep or act naturally, has stomachache, indigestion, diarrhea, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the foul waste, the sour bile and fermenting food passes out of the bowels and you have a well and playful child again. Children love this harmless "fruit laxative," and mothers can rest easy after giving it, because it never fails to make their little "insides" clean and sweet.

Keep it handy, Mother! A little given today saves a sick child tomorrow, but get the genuine. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on the bottle. Remember there are counterfeits sold here, so surely look and see that yours is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company."

Hand back with contempt any other fig syrup.

It Pays To Advertise.

A few days ago Mr. A. R. Vanatta R. D. No. 2, Granville, O. had a three line for sale advertisement inserted in the Advocate. Mr. Vanatta writes: "It certainly pays to advertise. I sold the cow next morning. Had a call within three hours after the paper was out."

Council Meeting.

At tonight's council meeting it is probable that the question of the fire trucks will be brought up for discussion. Council also may receive petitions from Elmwood avenue residents protesting against the operation of the jitney bus on that street.

Automobile Damaged.

A collision between an automobile and a North Fourth street car at Fourth and Locust streets Saturday afternoon resulted in considerable damage to the automobile. The machine attempted to turn the corner as the car was coming south around the curve and one of the street car steps caught on the fender of the auto. It was jammed into the sewer drop on the corner and the fender and front springs were bent. The owner did not give his name.

Close for Vacation.

The parochial schools, St. Francis de Sales and Blessed Sacrament are closed this week, Holy Week, for the annual spring vacation.

Progressive Brotherhood.

The Progressive Brotherhood of North Newark will not meet tonight owing to the organization of the Chamber of Commerce. The next regular meeting will be held in two weeks.

Moves to St. Clairsville.

Wm. Wharton, who has lived in one house in South Fifth street for the past 21 years, has been transferred to St. Clairsville, by the B. & O. railroad company and has moved to that city to make his future home.

Back for Visit.

Earl Murphy, who has been at Colorado Springs, Colo., for the past six months, arrived in the city yesterday for an extended visit with relatives. Mr. Murphy is looking the picture of health and states that the western climate agreed with him. He will remain here until July 1, when he will resume his position on the road.

Daughter Seriously Ill.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Ferguson received a telegram Sunday announcing that their daughter, Mrs. Harold Lamsom, was seriously ill at her home in Toledo and that her physician stated that she would have to undergo an operation for appendicitis. It will be performed immediately upon the arrival of Mrs. Ferguson at Toledo today.

Late Was Rough.

Fishermen at Buckeye Lake Sunday morning were greatly disappointed owing to high winds and the roughness of the water making fishing almost impossible except from the shore where still water could be found. The wind, however, died down in the afternoon and those who had remained caught quite a few Lake Eries.

FORMAL OPENING OF

DILLON & GIBSON

NEW GROCERY FIRM

Dillon & Gibson will be the firm name of the company which purchased the George Miller grocery at 35 South Park Place. The grocery was sold Saturday.

Mr. Dillon was the former owner of the store, selling out to Mr. Miller. He conducted a grocery there for 4 years, having purchased it from C. C. Rankin, in February of 1902.

Mr. Gibson, his partner, has resided on a farm four miles north on the Mt. Vernon road, but has moved his family to Elmwood avenue, this city.

The new firm will carry the same line of goods as in the past, including groceries and varieties, but on a much larger scale. The store was formally opened under the new management this morning.

STRANGER DIED IN JAIL.

Elyria, O., April 17.—County authorities today were trying to establish the identity of a man who died in the county jail here today following his arrest while nude. Employees of a traction line power house here saw the naked man under a railroad bridge yesterday afternoon. Sheriff Whitney was called and arrested him. This morning he was found dead in his cell.

Operation not Necessary after Taking the Great Medicine for Women.

Miller's Falls, Mass.—"Doctors said I had displacement very badly and I would have to have an operation. I had a soreness in both sides and a pulling sensation in my right side. I could not do much work the pain was so bad. I was also troubled with irregularity and other weaknesses. My blood was poor. We had been married four years and had no children.

After using Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Blood Purifier I became well and strong and was saved from the operation. We are now the parents of a big baby girl and I praise your remedies to others and give you permission to publish my letter."

Mrs. JOSEPH GUILBAULT, Jr., Bridge Street, Miller's Falls, Mass.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is famous for restoring women to normal health and strength. When this is done wives no longer despair of having children.

A woman should be reluctant to submit to a surgical operation until she has given Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial. If you have a case that needs special advice, write the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential), Lynn, Mass. It is free and always helpful.

Domestic Science Teacher Coming

Miss Emma Hanko

A better Foods—Better Homes week is being planned for Newark by the Advocate. Miss Emma Hanko who will have charge, is a graduate of Pratt Institute and her credentials are of the best. Her helpfulness to housewives has been attested by the women of many cities she has visited during the past two years.

In her better Foods—Better Homes program Miss Hanko demonstrates the chemistry of cooking which is a vital element, but she pays more attention to showing how to prepare wholesome and palatable dishes. Her instruction will enable women to make every penny count and will add to the list of dishes they now prepare to tempt the family appetite.

No charge is to be made for her lecture here. Every woman in Newark is invited to attend and all visitors from other cities and villages and farms will be made welcome. Housewives of this city should endeavor to hear Miss Hanko every day. She will lecture in the High school Auditorium every afternoon of the week of April 24th except Thursday. These free lectures and cookery lessons begin each day promptly at two-thirty.

3 WINNING POINTS

that helped the Hoosier Kitchen Cabinet win the Gold Medal at the Panama-Pacific Exposition, San Francisco. Come tomorrow and see them demonstrated at the

H-O-O-S-I-E-R Gold Medal Sale

Come and see what thousands of people saw at the great San Francisco Fair last year, what dozens of women saw Saturday and today at our store.

Learn why so many folks you know have paid us $1 in the past two days and ordered the Hoosier delivered to their homes. These neighbors will have many hours to spare when most women still are plodding 'round their kitchens preparing meals or putting away supplies and tidying up.

Hoosier has places for 100 articles all handily arranged at your fingers' ends. But don't think it is merely a "shell-room" cabinet. The Hoosier is really an "automatic servant." It has 40 features that aid you in cooking and save you time and labor.

Its perfect construction surpasses all other cabinets made.

Hoosier's Shaker Flour Sifter makes flour fluffy and light. Works faster than rotary sifter. Avoids grit or broken wire. Can't wear out.

2—

Hoosier's Revolving Spice Caster puts the spices you need at your finger tips. No danger of knocking over any or spilling them.

3—

Hoosier's Double-Acting Sugar Bin is the only sugar bin from which sugar can be taken with equal ease from top or bottom; has three times the capacity of most bins.

4—

Hoosiers are made with Hinge doors or full view roll doors above the base. The hinge doors have remarkably convenient utensil trays. The roll doors are open—no pockets or cubby-holes. The price has only 50c difference.

Remember, there are Hoosiers for farms, camps, apartments, big kitchens, little ones, for window spaces and the center of big kitchens. No further need for old-fashioned, built-in, uncleanable cupboards.

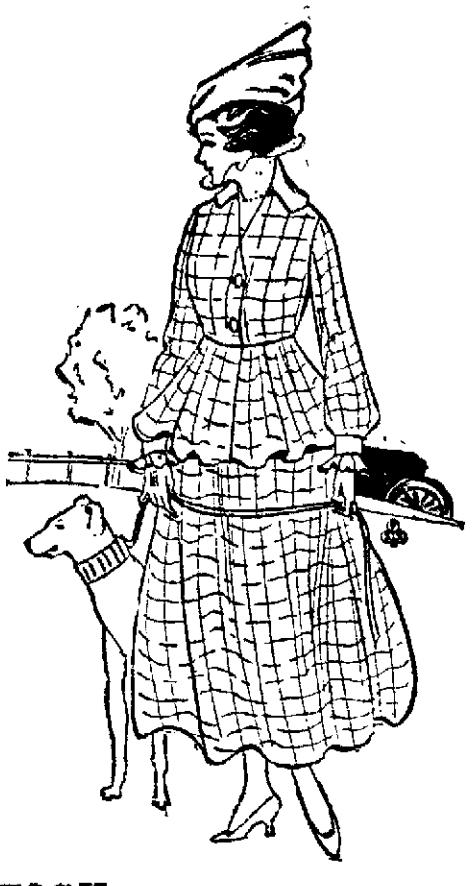

If you think that you can't spare the time to come, then you confess that you need a Hoosier badly because it will give you so many spare hours for a lifetime.

Don't Delay The Purchase of Your Easter Suit

Until the last day. There are but five days between now and Easter Sunday. As Easter approaches, the cloak department will be a busy place, and shopping will become more difficult.

NERVOUSNESS AND SLEEPLESSNESS DRIVEN AWAY

SUCH IS THE HAPPY EXPERIENCE OF MRS. ZIPPERER WITH TANLAC.

"I've Taken Two Bottles of Tanlac Sleep Better, Eat Better, Feel Better."

Mrs. Mary Zipperer, 320 West Locust street, has found Tanlac to be all that is claimed for it. She says: "I was nervous, couldn't sleep and my appetite was poor. I have taken two bottles of Tanlac and I sleep better, eat better and feel greatly relieved. Tanlac is fine medicine. I recommend it."

Tanlac also will be found excellent in stomach, liver, kidney troubles, rheumatism, catarrh, coughs and colds and has no equal as a spring tonic. Tanlac is especially recommended for ailing people who need building up.

Tanlac is demonstrated at Hall's Drug Store, and is for sale at Granville by W. P. Ullman; Lebanon by the Hebron Drug Co.; Pataskala by J. R. Strine; Utica by P. H. Richardson; Croton by J. W. Haines and at Johnstown by C. S. Howard. (Adv.)

Granville

(Special to the Advocate.)

Granville, April 17.—The death of Mr. Harry Frank Horton occurred on Sunday afternoon, April 16th at 2 o'clock at his home in Granger street, after a somewhat protracted illness. He was born in Granville on March 1, 1884, being just a few weeks over 22 years of age. He is survived by one son, Frank Horton, Jr., by three sisters, Miss Blanche Horton of Granville, Mrs. Bertha Church and Mrs. Besse Glitter of Zanesville, and one brother, Mr. Arthur Horton of Zanesville. The funeral will be held at the residence on Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Interment will be made in Maple Grove cemetery.

The Woman's Christian Temperance Union met at the home of Mrs. Christine Cook in College street, Friday afternoon, April 14, with a large number in attendance. A splendid program was presented under the leadership of Mrs. Sarah Meyers, one of the most faithful and devoted adherents of the temperance cause in Granville. The president, Mrs. John McElain, led the devotional service, after which she introduced Mrs. Osburn, county superintendent of the W. C. T. U., who spoke in an interesting way of the work for the coming year. Mrs. Meyers then took charge of the program and presented the view of temperance as advocated by some of the leading medical talent in this country and in England. British doctors are against alcohol, and some score of evils are cited by them as directly traceable to alcohol or aggravated, instead of alleviated, by its use. There is ample evidence of the evil effects of drinking alcoholic liquors amongst all classes, but the results are most serious and obvious among the working classes where the amount of earnings available for food, clothing, housing, education and amusements is more restricted than amongst those receiving greater pay. The conclusion of a speech at a meeting of the British Medical Association, was quoted somewhat as follows: "In view of the above evils we are convinced that universal abstinence from alcoholic liquors as beverages would contribute greatly to the health, prosperity, morality, and happiness of the human race, and we would urge the general adoption of abstinence from all such intoxicating beverages as the most natural and surest, simplest, and quietest method of removing the evils which result from their use and as the first great step towards the solution of many of the most difficult social problems by which we are surrounded." The next meeting of the union will be held on May 12 at the home of Mrs. Henry Ashton.

Rev. E. D. Barnes, pastor of the Presbyterian church, and Mr. DeBetting Jones attended the meeting of the Presbytery in Zanesville today.

Prof. and Mrs. Walter Livingston were dinner guests at the Beta House on Sunday.

GREAT FRIEND IN NERV-WORTH.

Here is an entirely new and exceedingly convincing Nerv-Worth endorsement just received at Zanesville:

"For about three years I have been ailing and I have been run down, couldn't sleep and had no appetite to speak of. I would wake up at night and lie awake for hours.

My sister recommended Nerv-Worth to me and we tried a bottle and I must say we got very good results.

"I can sleep well now and eat anything and all I want to. I have taken nearly two bottles (Nerv-Worth) and am going to get another.
